

Not A Member Of 'Troop'

★★★★

★★★★

★★★★

Aid Is Not Guaranteed

No Counsel For Poor?

Ruling Of Court To Hurt Many

North Carolina's Leading Weekly

VOL. 33 NO. 39 RALEIGH, N.C. WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JULY 6, 1974 SINGLE COPY 20c

Federal, State Troops Called, But

MARCHERS ARE READY

★★★★

★★★★

★★★★

Many More Expected

Tarheels At NAACP Meet

WASHINGTON - In a major reversal, the Supreme Court has decided that the poor do not necessarily have to have free counsel in "discretionary" appeal situations. Rights that have been set for poor defendants during the last 18 years could be affected by the decision. Most proceedings before state supreme courts, as well as those before the U.S. Supreme Court, are affected by the discretionary appeals decision. Discretionary appellate situations arise when the reviewing courts are under no legal obligation to accept the case. (See COUNSEL FOR, P. 2)

CROWNING OF 'MISS BLACK WORLD' TEENAGER HERE - Pictured above, from left to right, are: Misses Sandra Kay Adams, Aldrena Rogers, Queen Chauncey Katrina Douglas, Alma Hooker, Deborah Farmer and Carmen Jean Battle. (See story).

Goldsboro Lass 'Miss Black Teen World' For N. Carolina

Miss Chauncey Katrina Douglas, 16-year-old teen of Goldsboro, was crowned 'Miss Black Teenage World' of North Carolina, at Raleigh, last week. Miss Douglas esides with her aunt, Mrs. Ora Douglas, in Goldsboro, where she attends Goldsboro High School, and is presently a junior. The talent performed by Miss Douglas was 'Sings the Blues, Good Morning Heartache, by Diane Ross. Her hobbies are singing, dancing, sewing, bowling, tennis and swimming. She is a member of First African Baptist Church. The pastor is Rev. I. B. Horton of Goldsboro.

She was crowned by 17-year-old Gilstine Todd of Zebulon, a 1973 contestant in the World Pageant. The crown of roses symbolizes love and unity as displayed in Africa. Special recognition was also given to the first runner-up, Miss Deborah Farmer of Rocky Mount. Miss Farmer's performance was a monologue, 'The definition of a Revolution'. Other contestants were: Aldrena Rogers, 15, of Goldsboro. Her performance was a monologue and she sang the National Anthem. Alma L. Hooker, 17, of Raleigh, displayed her talent with an African dance. Charming Jean Battle, 16, of Raleigh, performed a piano recital: 'Revolutionary Atude' by Frederic Chopin. (Show-Pan), Sandra Kay Adams, age 16 of King's Mountain, performed a monologue: 'Black and Lovely'. Along with her title, Miss Douglas was the recipient of a full scholarship renewal for four years, from Shaw University. Miss Farmer also received a supplementary scholarship.

Candidate Turner Gives Views On City March

Editor's Note: A. J. Turner is a candidate for a seat on the N.C. General Assembly, running on a Republican ticket, subject to the November general elections. AS a member of the President's North Carolina Commission on Civil Rights, a concerned citizen, and a (See A. J. TURNER, P. 2)

Appreciation Money SPOTLIGHT THIS WEEK

MOORE'S SEAFOOD 'of the freshest Seafood in Town'

POSTPONES DEATH PENALTY VOTE - Columbia, S.C. - Rep. Ernest Finney, D-Sumter (L), opponent on the death penalty bill which was vetoed by Gov. John C. West July 1 and Rep. Ralph Anderson, D-Florence, who is leading the fight to override the governor's veto, get into a hand-waving stage during a rules discussion in the House here July 1. Finney succeeded in postponing a vote to override the veto. (UPI)

Thousands Enroute To Demonstration

Although North Carolina Governor James Eubert Holshouser, Jr., Tuesday, called on 1,000 military troops and 300 state troops to be "at the ready" for Thursday's March Against Racism and Political Repression, the leaders of the massive national demonstration are ready and anxiously looking forward to the march. More than 5,000 persons are expected in Raleigh Thursday. (See photographs, other story on page 17)

Shaw Plans Seminar In Middle East

Dr. Urabi Mustafa, director of International Studies at Shaw University, will be project director of a "Seminar in Middle Eastern Studies" to be held at the University of Alexandria, Egypt this summer. The seminar will begin officially on Monday, July 8 with the departure of 15 professors from 5 Raleigh area colleges and universities, including Shaw. North Carolina has been chartered (See SHAW PLANS, P. 2)

Raleigh's NCNW Plans Trip For DC Memorial

The Raleigh section of the National Council of Negro Women is making its last call for passengers on its Mary McLeod Bethune Memorial Dedication bus trip to Washington, D.C. at 1 a.m. from the Trailway Bus Station, Wednesday, July 10. The group plans to arrive early at the Sheraton Park Hotel in time for the unveiling at 10:30 a.m. in Lincoln Memorial Park and the other activities scheduled for that day, as well as Thursday, when the Black Women's Institute and luncheon will be held. (See NCNW MAKES, P. 2)

Appreciation Checks Won By Man, Woman

A man and a woman were the two lucky persons last weekend in The CAROLINIAN's Appreciation Money Feature, which appears each week on the back page of the front section of this newspaper, also sponsored by the participating merchants. Charles V. Brown, 725 Delany Drive - Maabona Acres - saw his name in the ad paid for by the Hour (See APPRECIATION, P. 2)

Funeral Held At Ebenezer

BY ALEXANDER BARNES

(See photographs on page 18)

ATLANTA, Ga. - Randolph Bacote, a black attorney, hired by an unnamed source to defend Marcus Wayne Chenault, 23-year-old Dayton, Ohio student, charged with the Sunday, June 30, murders of Mrs. Martin Luther (Alberta) King, Sr., 69, claimed here Tuesday that his client was not a member of a black troop, bent on destroying black Christians, especially civil rights advocates. Also killed was a deacon in the church, Edward Boykin, 69, whose funeral will be held Friday and preached by Rev. Dr. King, Sr. Mrs. King was given last rites on Wednesday, July 3. Wounded in the shooting was a woman worshipper. Conspiracy charges are being checked, however.

A pall fell over the opening of the annual session of the NAACP in New Orleans, La., on Sunday, June 30, similar to the one that shadowed the 64th session, held in Indianapolis, a year ago, where the announcement of the funeral of Robert Ming was made. When the news of how Mrs. Martin Luther King, Sr., had been killed by bullets from a crazed-assassin's gun as she prayed the Lord's Prayer at the organ inside Atlanta's Ebenezer Baptist Church. It is to be remembered that the veteran Chicago lawyer died on the eve of the 1974 annual session and was funeralized while the meet (See MRS. KING, P. 2)

Scribe In Louisiana For Events

NEW ORLEANS, La. - A check on North Carolinians attending the 65th annual session of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which opened here Monday, showed that 42 persons had registered. Kelly M. Alexander, Sr., president, N.C. State Conference of Branches, Charlotte, (See NAACP MEET, P. 2)

VICTIMS OF ATLANTA MURDERS - Atlanta, Ga. - Mrs. Martin Luther (Alberta) King, Sr., 69, mother of the late slain Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr., is shown as she worshipped at the Ebenezer Baptist Church, founded by her late father. She was shot to death inside the church, at the organ while playing The Lord's Prayer on Sunday, June 30. Deacon Edward Boykin, also 69, was the other person slain inside the church, where a woman worshipper was wounded. (UPI)

A TIME TO WEEP - Atlanta - Mrs. Christine Farris, only surviving daughter of the King family, wipes a tear as she joins her father, Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr., attend memorial services for her slain mother July 2. Christine is the sister of slain civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. (UPI)

EULOGIZED AS 'ROCK OF AGES' - Atlanta - Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr., doubles over, faint, at the graveside of his slain wife, Alberta, July 2. Comforting Rev. King is his daughter, Christine, Alberta King slain June 30 by a gunman in the Ebenezer Baptist Church, was eulogized as a "rock of ages." (UPI)

FATHER CONFRONTS THE PRESS - Dayton, Ohio - Marcus Chenault (R), father of Marcus Wayne Chenault, talks with newsmen outside the family home (L) here late June 10. Young Chenault is accused in the shooting death of Mrs. Martin Luther King, Sr., during a church service in Atlanta June 30. (UPI)

Blacks Will Launch National Attack On Problems Of Drug, Alcohol Abuse

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Meeting into the night last Thursday, the Committee for National Policy Review of the National Business League gave its endorsement to a proposal to mount a national attack on drug abuse in black communities across the country. The project will be jointly sponsored by the National Newspaper Publishers Association, the Black Press of America, the National Bar Association and the National Business League. Meeting in conjunction with NBL's second annual Washington Briefing, the CNPR, representing the major black trade, professional and business associations. The groups reviewed the need for a total black community approach to the drug problem in a briefing by NNPA consultant, Maoni Gray of San Francisco. She described the multi-phased strategy which calls for extensive involvement at the grassroots level in three general areas: prevention, treatment and legal-legislative support. The activities as planned under the proposal, will focus on helping the black community define its own interests in working toward a solution to the drug problem. Community residents, professionals, black educational institutions, groups and organizations, and politically oriented groups will be brought together for a concerted attack on this problem. Research and remedial programs will be studied from the perspective of all relevant fields including psychiatry, psychology, penology, busi-

ATTACKED NEAR RAILROAD - James Young, 35, 600 S. Bloodworth Street, was observed by Officer R. Perry at 1:45 p.m. Friday in the 500 block of W. Morgan Street. "He was cut over the left eye, in the face and on the left hand. This took place under the railroad viaduct at that address." Arrested and charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent of doing serious injury was Johnny Grover, 52, also of 600 S. Bloodworth. The weapon used was not listed in the general offense report. (See CRIME BEAT, P. 3)