Policewoman, was shot and killed Sept. 20, trying to capture a shotgun-carrying man who was fleeing from two male officers. She was the first Policewoman in the nation's capital city to die in the line of duty. Officer Cobb was shot in the chest and ribs. She later died at George Washington Hospital. Pat Bryant Leads Pickets In 'Raid' On 'Bill' Knight's Job

Members of the Raleigh Tenants Organization picketed in front of St. Augustine's College Tuesday to protest statements made by City Councilman William R. Knight, defending the Raleigh Housing Inspections Department from collaboration with landlords on the inspections of slum housing.

Mr. Bill Knight and other members of the City Council, toured 9 of the 14 houses Saturday, Sept. 21, and expressed shock at the appalling conditions tenants lived in in Raleigh. After the tour, the Council members praised the inspections department for doing a good job. In an interview with Councilman Knight by Charles R. Jones, CAROLINIAN managing editor, Bill stated as follows: "I have no reaction to the picketing, other than I find his (Bryant's) statement that I am in cohorts with the landlord's, startling. To find one in collaboration with a landlord, one would have to make sure some personal gain is involved, such as the passage of money.

"I believe that the entire system of placarding and re-entering a house needs more work done on it. "I think that Pat's actions were premature. The committee report has not even been made to the full City Council.

Mr. Knight was referring to the visits made last Saturday to several substandard homes by a Council committee.

Mrs. Isabel Jackson, who lives at 409 1/2 S. Haywood Street, complained that "The housing inspectors are the

THROWN OUT OF HOUSE
Miss Phyllis Ann Lewis, 21, 1425 Garner Road, told Officer L. H. Knight at 1:24 p.m. Saturday, that she was lying on the bed at her house when James Leroy Neal, 26, 438 Smithfield Street, came in the room. Miss Lewis stated that she then got up and vacated the room. In another room, she said, "he grabbed me by the arm and threw me out of the back door. Then he took me by the hair and beat my head against some bricks. I finally managed to break away and call the police."

Miss Lewis suffered scratches on the face and bruises on the neck. The woman was advised to sign an assault on a female warrant. Williams had "split the scene" before the cop came. (See CRIME BEAT, P. 3)

Triangle Leads To Murder

BY STAFF WRITER

A 25-year-old Raleigh woman has admitted stabbing her apparently estranged husband, since he has a Durham address and she lives in an alley on Raleigh's north side.

When Officer D. M. Matlocks arrived on the scene at 202 1/2 Selwyn Alley at 3:37 a.m. Saturday, he found Willie Pierce, 27, 1208 N. Elizabeth Street, Durham, in a pool of blood and unconscious because of lack of it. His wife admitted stabbing Pierce "over another man."

The officer called to the scene, an ambulance and the City-County Identification Bureau for further details of the gory knifing. At the time Pierce was admitted, he was listed in very serious condition.

Mrs. Pierce later turned herself in at the magistrate's office and was immediately charged with murder. The original count had been assault with a deadly weapon. Conjecture has it that the two were fighting over "this other man," when she plunged the knife into a vital and life preserving area.

Educator Heads NEA Committee

WASHINGTON, D.C. - An outstanding black educator from Flint, Mich., has been appointed chairman of one of the most important committees of the 1.5 million-member National Educational Association, the Committee on Educational Finance.

Announcement of the selection of Melvin E. Banner, a Michigan teacher for 21 years and past president of the United Teachers of Flint, was made by NEA executive secretary Terry E. Herndon, who was executive secretary of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) from 1969 to 1973.

Adequate financing for public education is one of 6 goals currently given top priority by NEA. The Committee on Educational Finance works toward that goal by advising NEA governing bodies on appropriate financial policies, recommending ways to promote taxpayer understanding of school finance programs and needs, identifying problems and trends in school finance, and suggesting ways to improve school finance programs at all levels of government.

Banner, a teacher in Emerson Junior High School, received the MEA Recognition Award and the Law Day Liberty Bell Award last year. He is also a recipient of the

R-WCA Resumes Its Deliberations Here

BY MISS J. E. HICKS

The Raleigh-Wake Citizens Association opened its fall meeting last Thursday night with president Ralph Campbell, presiding. Invocation was offered by James A. Shepard.

Mr. Campbell reported on the membership drive, stating that letters have been sent to 13 individuals and organizations, requesting them to renew their memberships. Organizations were asked to name representatives who would attend the monthly meetings. Through the attendance of these representatives, it is hoped to create a stronger alliance in the community. Campbell called for reports from the following committee chairmen:

James A. Shepard, Political Actions, no report at this time; Miss Louise Latham, Education, nothing at this time. However, Miss Latham was authorized to organize an educational task force to be reported on later.

Allan Rutheford, Membership, a number of persons and organizations have paid membership fees.

Mr. Campbell then discussed, briefly, these issues: the dire need for low-income housing and the lack of money for such projects; the group practices in Raleigh public schools, which the NAACP has challenged in the Federal Court in New Bern, and a resolution opposing the description of housing along the belt line.

The R-WCA promised to investigate a grievance presented by Glenn Platt. (See R-WCA RESUMES, P. 2)

Dept. Of Justice Is Suing

The Department of Justice filed a civil suit and a decree this week, requiring the DeVry Institute of Technology in Atlanta, Georgia, to adopt a nondiscriminatory policy for its housing referral service.

The suit charged DeVry with operating its student housing referral service on a racially discriminatory basis.

It said records were coded to indicate apartments and boarding homes which were for white students only.

Attorney General William B. Saxbe said the housing discrimination suit and the decree resolving the issues were filed together in U.S. District Court in Atlanta.

In addition, a negotiated Fair Housing Agreement between Bell & Howell Schools, Inc. and the Justice Department was also submitted for the court's information. DeVry Institute is a wholly owned subsidiary of Bell & Howell Schools, Inc.

Under the agreement, Bell & Howell schools said it would follow similar fair housing

UNCF Will Observe 30th Year

NEW YORK, N.Y. - The United Negro College Fund will celebrate three decades of service to black higher education at a 30th anniversary dinner Thursday, Oct. 17, at the New York Hilton Hotel.

Andrew Heiskell, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Time, Inc., has agreed to serve as chairman for the dinner. Morris B. Abram, UNCF board chairman, said it was "particularly appropriate for Mr. Heiskell to chair this affair because over the years, Time, Inc., has been a consistent and longtime contributor to the college fund."

Some 800 persons are expected to attend the dinner. Founded in 1944, the Fund was originated to bring desperately needed support to the then 27 schools which made up its membership. Over the past three decades, the Fund has raised some $150 million to assist these schools whose membership has now grown to 41.

Much of the professional and community black leadership has come out of these UNCF schools, including the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., Julian Bond and Mayor Maynard Jackson of Atlanta. The man who founded the UNCF, Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, will be honored at the anniversary dinner. Dr. Patterson was then president of Tuskegee Institute, at 73, he is president of the Moton Foundation, which provides services to black higher education. Tuskegee is one of (See UNCF WILL, P. 2)
