

CAROLINIAN Launches Aid Drive

Ten Commandments Of Discipline Told

A careful study of the plight of private colleges in America, especially black, motivated P. R. Jervay, publisher of the state's largest black newspaper, THE CAROLINIAN, to launch a nationwide drive among churches to aid them.

The campaign is very unique, in view of the fact that it is geared toward church members, the largest segment of the nation's population. It is titled "A Billion Dollars For Black Churches And Colleges." The study showed that blacks control 52 billion dollars and that the 52 billion could attract 52 more worth of credit.

The campaign is set up under a strict moral banner, known as the "Ten Commandments of Discipline," realizing that the church is the center of the nation's moral fibre.

The Ten Commandments of Discipline are:

1. Smoke 5 less cigarettes a day, $50;
2. One meatless meal a week, $20;
3. Walk one way to work (if not too far), $25;
4. One less soda a week, $20;
5. Retire one hour earlier one night a week, $25;
6. Wash car once a month - $25;
7. One less beer a week, $40;
8. No dessert one meal, $15;
9. One less high ball a week, $20;
10. Ride bus instead of driving car, $25;

Total for church, $3.05. The 10 commandments will not work a hardship on anyone, but would greatly enhance the coffers of the church and the schools. Should they be followed, it would mean a weekly contribution of $3.05 for each member. However, one must dedicate himself to habitual giving that will not deprive him or her of any pleasure. Shootings Claim One; Other Hurt

BY CHARLES R. JONES

Two shootings in Raleigh over the past weekend appear to be heralding two coming events as has been the experience of this newspaper over a period of 22 years of reporting the news - Christmas and New Year's. One man was shot to death following an argument, and a wife was shot in the right shoulder in, what police have charged, was an attempt to kill. Killings, knifings and shootings have been more rampant during the winter holiday seasons, it has been proved.

James Robert Hopkins, 24, 908 E. Davie Street, was the victim of a single bullet in the lower stomach, fired from a .22 calibre Mossberg rifle, alleged triggered by 29-year-old James Edward Hinton, 804 Weston Street.

Veteran black Republicans of North Carolina, are planning a statewide meeting for the early part of the year, where they plan to implement their activities with the Republican State Organization. Many of them were not surprised at the outcome of the election, due to the fact they feel that the Republican political machinery did not use practical methods in prosecuting the election.

Many of them point to the fact that newcomers to the top echelon of the party failed to

RALEIGH PRISON SUPERINTENDENT FIRED - Raleigh, N.C. - Mrs. Juanita Baker was fired Dec. 3, from her job as superintendent of the State Women's Prison for "ineffective performance of duty," according to Dept. of Corrections officials. (UPI)

Wife Of Former Paroles Board Member Dismissed

Mrs. Juanita Baker, 38, wife of ex-professional football star and former member of the N.C. Paroles Board, John H. Baker, Jr., was fired here late Tuesday afternoon. Ralph D. Edwards, director of prisons for North Carolina, fired Mrs. Baker. He told newsmen, "In my opinion, it is not a satisfactory state-wide program for female offenders requires a change in command at the Correctional Center for Women."

Edwards also declared that Mrs. Baker had not made satisfactory progress in getting the needed implementation of programs at the center.

A Democrat, Mrs. Baker was appointed to her position by ex-Governor Robert Walter Scott. A major dispute developed with present Republican Governor James F. Holt. Mrs. Baker took over at the center in February of 1970 and is believed to be the first black woman ever to head a state facility of such proportions in the United States. It is the state's only prison facility for women. Within weeks of Holt's inauguration in January, 1973, both Mrs. Baker and her husband, John H. Baker, Jr., then a Democratic member of the State Paroles Commission, were involved in controversy with the new administration. Baker, contended that Holt sought to force his early resignation from the fixed commission term. He said that upon refusing, Holt threatened to fire Mrs. Baker. (See MRS. BAKER, P. 2)

Judge George R. Greene Takes Oath; First Black Elected Here

On Tuesday, Dec. 2, at 9 a.m., veteran Raleigh Attorney George R. Greene, Sr., took the oath of office and was sworn in as the first black judge ever elected in Wake County. The history making event was witnessed by a standing room only crowd of well-wishers, relatives and friends, in courtroom Number 10 of the Wake County Courthouse.

District Attorney Burley B. Mitchell, introduced Greene to the court and reviewed his excellent qualifications for the office of district court judge. The "dean" of the local black bar, Atty. Fred J. Carnage, then presented Greene to Chief District Judge George F. Bason, who gave the new judge his official oath of office. His son, George, Jr., completed the investiture by putting the robe on his father. Ava, the oldest daughter, presented a gift from the family - a rosewood gavel and sounding block with a bronze band inscribed "The Honorable Judge George R. Greene - Dec. 2, 1974."

Charles Irving, Sr., of Irving-Swain Press, presented the Greenses a beautiful metal plate, mounted on a lovely walnut plaque bearing the newspaper account proclaiming Greene the first black judge ever elected in Wake County.

The oath of office was taken on the family Bible belonging to Judge Greene's father, the late Dr. W. L. Greene, which he gave to his sons on June 20, 1940.

Along with the many friends who were on hand for the ceremony, were Mrs. Greene's mother, Mrs. Willie M. Josey of Stamford, Conn. and Judge Greene's brother, Mr. Rolland Greene of Winston-Salem.

Moments after the swearing in and the receiving of congratulations, Judge Greene walked across the hall to Courtroom Number 8 in the Wake County Courthouse. The courtroom was called to order with Judge Greene officiating presiding on his first day in office.

Judge Greene maintains an office for the general practice of law in the Winters Building, 507 E. Martin Street. He was one of the first blacks ever to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he received the LL.B. degree some 17 years ago.

He is a member of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity and many other organizations. The family resides at 2101 Lyndhurst Drive, Raleigh.
