

Fowler Case Spotlights Across US

Supreme Court Is Pondering

★★★★

★★★★

★★★★

Federal Government Eases Restrictions

HUD Aids Soul City

THE CAROLINIAN

North Carolina's Leading Weekly

VOL. 34 NO. 26 RALEIGH, N.C. WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1975 SINGLE COPY 20¢

Raleigh Police

PROBE SHOOTINGS

★★★★

★★★★

★★★★

In Roxboro School Incident

Principal Tells His Story

Men Still Sought In Violence

One man is listed in serious condition at Wake Memorial Hospital and another was shot Monday, according to the Raleigh Police Department.

The first reported victim was John W. Buchanan, 102 N. East Street, who informed "the law" that he was the victim of two robbers about 9 p.m. when he opened the front door of his house. Although the general offense report sheet did not indicate in what part of the body he was shot, Mr. Buchanan's wound was not said to be serious.

Ben Rivers, 1336 Branch Street, Walnut Terrace, was the present time, he is in the intensive care unit at the hospital.

Mr. Rivers was shot in the stomach twice with a .22 calibre pistol, while he was at the home of Ms. Kathy Evans, 788 Wilmington Terrace, Halifax Court Apartments.

According to a check with (See SHOOTINGS, P. 2)

Wake Eyes Means Of Transport

The transportation department at Wake County Opportunities, Inc. is stepping up its services to the disadvantaged in the Raleigh and Wake County communities. This program deals with the problem of providing an adequate transportation system for the disadvantaged of Wake County so that all of the resources of the community, especially those designed to help poor people, may be utilized to the fullest extent possible. Presently, there are no adequate means for those persons without cars to avail themselves of many of the employment opportunities, agencies services, or other facets of community life.

This program, which has served many community residents, was one of the first programs begun by Wake County Opportunities, Inc. in 1970. Today, services are provided for disadvantaged persons needing transportation to and from day-care centers, food stamp offices, social service agencies, post offices. (See WAKE EYES, P. 2)

$300 PER MONTH NOT ENOUGH—Tallahassee, Fla. — A little legislative envy Florida style. Rep. Mary Singleton, D-Jacksonville (L), sticks her tongue out at Rep. Eric Smith, D-Jacksonville. Smith, an attorney, has a law office back home and gets $300 per month from the state to conduct legislative business out of the office. Rep. Singleton, a housewife, says she can't run an office at home on $300 per month. (UPI)

Funds To Be Given In Warren County

SOUL CITY (WARREN COUNTY) — Even though every mention of the developments of Soul City echoes political overtones, due to the fact its founder and chief developer, Floyd McKissick, saw more virtue in the Republican Party and switched in 1972, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, announced that it was going to treat the project like any other "urban renewal" this week.

Persons who have watched the rising of Soul City out of the dust of Warren County and have endorsed its coming into

Link-Up Of Rights Foes Hampering

NEW YORK — The NAACP General Counsel last week charged that ordinarily law-abiding people have linked up with traditional racists in a new alliance of adversaries to compound the problem of implementing remedies for racial discrimination.

In a speech delivered at a conference of urban planners in Vancouver, B.C. on Wednesday, April 16, General (See HAMPERING, P. 2)

S. Knight Talks To Newsman

Editor's Note — In our issue of April 19, we carried a story about two Roxboro schools. The story seemed to have concerned many people in the area. In order to present both sides, we had an interview with a principal. We herewith give you his version of the incident.

ROXBORO—The CAROLINIAN, on learning from Mr. Smith Knight, principal of Southern Junior High School, that there (See PRINCIPAL, P. 2)

R-WCA And Wake Tech Bd. Meet

The Raleigh-Wake Citizens Association presented its special committee on educational institutions of Wake County, to the Trustee Board of Wake Technical Institute at 7:30 Wednesday, April 16, at Wake Technical Institute.

George Spaulding, chairman of the subcommittee on education, was the spokesman. Copies of his remarks were distributed to each trustee and the delegation from Raleigh-Wake Citizens Association. (See R-WCA AND, P. 2)

National Tenants' Body Sets Confab In Durham

DURHAM — On April 25-27, the Southern Region of the National Tenant Organization will hold its annual conference in the city of Durham. The National Tenant Organization's primary function is to bring people together to work on housing issues and laws, both on a regional and a national level.

The program of the conference will feature workshops conducted by well-informed housing resource persons. There will be included 3 major workshops in the areas of private, public and subsidized housing. These workshops are designed to accommodate the desires and interests of all tenants and housing consumers in the 10 state southern region.

Appreciation Checks Won By Man, Woman

Two persons, a man and a woman, were the lucky recipients of checks in the amount of $10 each last weekend when they spotted their names on the back page of the front section. The CAROLINIAN's Appreciation Money Feature, sponsored by this newspaper and merchants listed on that page each week.

J. Sylvanus Simmons, 516 1/2 Branch Street, saw his name in (See APPRECIATION, P. 2)

MISS LITTLE ARRIVES WITH BODYGUARD — Washington, N.C. — As her bodyguard, Russell McDonald, keeps a watchful eye, JoAnne Little arrives at the pretrial hearing into her murder case, April 22. The Little case is being argued by attorneys for both sides and it has been brought out that it would be almost impossible for Miss Little to receive a fair and impartial trial, has been the defense, while the prosecution is attempting to persuade the presiding judge, Henry A. McKinnon, that this is not the case. (UPI)

Rex Hospital Facility Named For Late John Jerome Turner

In a recent mid-day ceremony, the Emergency Service facilities at Rex Hospital were dedicated in memory of John Jerome Turner, Turner, now deceased, was a part of the Rex Hospital nursing service from Sept. 1945 until his retirement in March, 1968.

The ceremony was conducted in the lobby of the emergency entrance, where a large oil portrait of Mr. Turner, unveiled earlier, served as a backdrop for the momentous occasion.

Joseph Barnes, executive director of Rex Hospital, gave opening remarks. The Rev. Theo V. Carter, pastor of Wilson Temple United Methodist Church (with which Turner was affiliated), offered (See FACILITY, P. 2)

Frank L. Turner, a member of the Rex Hospital Board of Trustees (and a cousin of Jerome) gave elaborate dedication remarks.

He noted that Dr. Alfred Hamilton, senior surgeon and former chief, was instrumental in making the Turner memorial a reality. He extolled on the competence, compassion and kindness that prevailed during Jerome's employment at Rex Hospital.

In his conclusion, Turner said, "I dedicate this Emergency Service to John Jerome Turner, with the prayer that the quality of his service to his fellowman ever be perpetuated within its walls." Immediately following the dedicatory ceremony, the guests were feted at a buffet lunch in the hospital cafeteria.

In addition to several other guests, special guests were Jerome's widow, Mrs. Tuha H. Turner, daughter, Mrs. Geraldine Crooms, sons, John and Jerome, daughter-in-law, Mrs. Louise P. Turner, cousins, Mrs. Mildred Scarver and Mrs. Frank Turner, and the Rev. Theo V. Carter.

John Jerome Turner made several valuable contributions to society. A native son of Oberlin (W. Raleigh), he was (See FACILITY IS, P. 2) educated in the city's public schools and Shaw University. Following service in the Army, Turner was the manager of his father's shoe business at 15 E. Hargett St. After the close of this business, he became an agent for N.C. Mutual Insurance Co.

In Sept. 1945, Turner began his nursing service at Rex Hospital. It was during this 23 years of compassionate service to suffering humanity, that Turner made his greatest and most significant contribution. It was during these years of unselfish dedication to the (See FACILITY IS, P. 2)

Underpayment Of Help Increased Over Year

WASHINGTON — Illegal underpayment of workers protected by federal wage and hour laws increased sharply during the past year.

Bernard E. DeLury, assistant secretary of labor for employment standards (ESA), said nearly $82 million was found, owing to 350,540 workers in the first 9 months of fiscal 1975.

During the same period in fiscal 1974, $70,328,000 was found owed to 266,600 workers, under provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and other wage and hour laws. Also in the first 9 months of fiscal 1975, more than 282,000 employees received about $43,210,000 in back wages.

DeLury said, "We attribute the increase to vigorous enforcement of the law by our compliance officers, greater awareness by workers of their wage rights, and to a rise in employer violations following two minimum wage increases since May, 1974.

ESA's Wage and Hour Division is responsible for enforcing these pay protection laws. The FLSA, which sets (See WORKERS, P. 2)

Federation Of Citizens Here Tues.

The North Carolina Senior Citizens' Federation, Inc., will hold its fourth annual meeting at the Sheraton-Crabtree Motor Inn, Crabtree Valley Mall, on Tuesday, April 29, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Registration will begin at 9, to be followed until 11 by entertainment, exhibits and free health services.

From 12 noon until 3 p.m., a luncheon will be held with William "Sonny" Walker, director of region four, Community Services Administration, Atlanta, Ga., as guest speaker. This was formerly known as OEO.

After a 30-minute break, entertainment for the elderly will be given by the Rocking Chair Swingers of Wake County and the Kirtrell College Gospel Choir.

Hundreds of persons 55 years and older are expected to be in attendance, along with others.

C. Battle Is Winner

Elks District Oratorical winner, Miss Carmen Battle, a senior at Broughton High School here, was first place winner in the Elks' District Oratorical contest, held in Chapel Hill Sunday, April 20. Miss Battle will compete with 40 or more contestants in May at the State Elks' convention in Winston-Salem. Bro. J. Artis Autry is local director of the department.

ORIGINAL SUPREME BECOMES A MOTHER—HOLLYWOOD —Mary Wilson, the only remaining original member of the Supremes singing group leaves Cedars of Lebanon Hospital with her newborn, Turkessa Ferrer, who is just five days. Father, right, is Pedro Ferrer. (UPI)

LISTENS TO PRISON PROTESTS—WASHINGTON—D. C. Correction Director, Delbert Jackson (L) listens to prison guards protests about the treatment of eleven guards who were held as hostages for 18-hours during a revolt by inmates April 18, at the D. C. Jail. (UPI)

Appreciation Money
SPOTLIGHT THIS WEEK
 NATURAL HEALTH FOODS
 "For The Very Best In Foods"