"Serious"

BY CHARLES R. JONES

The tragic and sudden death of Bro. Edward Holloway, Sr., 55, popular manager of the Gospel Jubilee Singers of Raleigh last Saturday night, in a fiery car wreck, near Pittsboro in Chatham County, has stunned and saddened the hearts of all who knew him. He wrote Gospel Highlights for The CAROLINIAN for the past several years.

Holloway of Wendell, Route 2, died in a two-vehicle collision as he and his wife, Mrs. Bernice B. Holloway, traveled toward Pittsboro to attend a gospel singing program to be held at the Horton High School there.

Members of the Gospel Jubilee Singers were riding ahead of them on a van, owned by the group, and Johnnie Holloway, a son of the late Mr. Holloway, reportedly saw the head-on collision of his father's car with a small truck. Both vehicles caught on fire and Holloway, as well as the driver (See COLLISION, P. 2)

Man Held For Rape In Raleigh

A Raleigh man, Willie O. Frink, 30, of 542 E. Jones St., Apt. 1, was arrested last week and charged with the rape of Miss Shirley Mae Jackson, after she identified him in a police line-up.

Miss Jackson related to police, that on the night of last Jan. 31, she left her apartment at 219 E. North St., at about 9:30 p.m. to visit her sister. She also said that a man stepped from behind a building and grabbed her, holding a knife to her throat and forced her to walk to a parking lot on Halifax St., where she was raped.

After the incident, Miss Jackson said she was released, so she returned home and notified the police. Raleigh detectives who had pursued the case for several months without any success, were finally able to make an arrest, after Miss Jackson called the police and said she saw her assailant riding down the street on a bicycle. Frink is being held in the Wake County Jail without privilege of bond pending a hearing in Wake District Court.

Deaths In Raleigh, County

As the Christmas Season nears, murders have begun to run rampant in the Raleigh and Wake County communities. Two men have been killed and as many other men have been "hailed off" to Wake County Jail to await hearings.

Police have charged a Raleigh man with the slaying of a Zebulon resident in south Raleigh last Friday. George Grace Munson, 27, of Zebulon, was found dead outside a house at 413 S. Bloodworth St., about 9 p.m. Friday. Munson had been shot with a small calibre handgun in the side and in the leg. Munson died 4 hours later at Wake Medical Center, and during the weekend, police apprehended Charlie Junior Harris, 48, of 711 E. Hargett St., and charged him with the murder. (See TWO SLAIN, P. 2)

U. Of Va. President Censured

National Black News Service CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — Frank L. Hereford, Jr., president of the University of Virginia, has been "censured" by a faculty group because of his refusal to drop his membership in an all-white country club here. The faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences, a major group at the university, refused to vote approval of a resolution expressing confidence in Hereford's administration. This, some faculty members let on, amounts to a vote for censure. Hereford, defending his membership in the Farmington County Club, said he should remain in the club and work from within to eliminate its racial policies. The 2,800-member club, which bans blacks as members and guests, is located 3 miles west of the university campus. (See FACULTY, P. 2)

Alleged Killer Arrested

Willie Lee Perry, 38, of 2 Bladen St., was arrested Friday night by Detective D. R. Turnage and charged with the murder of Mrs. Mazie Hedgepath Keith, 56, of 108 N. Fisher St. Det. Lt. K. J. Johnson said that the local man is being held in the Wake County Jail without privilege of bond, pending a hearing in Wake District Court. Mrs. Keith's nude body was found in a shed behind Cheap Johns on E. Hargett St. on Oct. 24. Det. Turnage's report indicated that Mrs. Keith had been beaten to death with a piece of concrete block. Perry is expected to face a judge in Wake District Court next week for a preliminary hearing on the death rap.

Shaw Gets Grant Of $95,000

Shaw University and 8 other predominantly black colleges and universities have received a grant totalling $751,000 from the U.S. Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, to develop professional training for criminal justice careers for blacks and other minorities. Shaw University has received $94,000 matched with $31,000 of its own monies to total $95,000 for the 18-month pilot program. Criminal Justice tracks or courses are being developed within the Department of Public Administration. Research conducted by the Justice Department showed that major colleges and universities failed to interest black and other minorities in criminal justice careers and small institutions generally have not offered the training. The area of Criminal Justice has turned off blacks and minorities because they have traditionally been geared toward white concepts and values. Shaw's program will seek to train persons in criminal justice areas to be broad thinkers. In other words, Shaw hopes to make the training relevant. Shaw's program will focus on several areas of criminal justice including law enforcement, corrections and juvenile delinquency. Dr. Lorenzo Thompson is chairman of the department of public administration and director of the criminal justice program.

Labor Aids NAACP

NEW YORK, N.Y. — A group of labor leaders, representing more than 7 million working men and women and approximately 23,000 local unions, gathered in New York last week to help the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in its financial crisis. "We cannot allow the NAACP to go down the drain" declared Roosevelt Watts, secretary-treasurer of the Transport Workers Union, AFL-CIO, who serves as co-chairman of the labor group. "The NAACP must survive and become even stronger," he said. William H. Oliver, of the United Automobile Workers, called upon labor to make emergency contributions and to take out life memberships. The meeting, called in response to the association's (See LABOR AIDS, P. 2)
