Females' Clothing Is Worn

Soliciting for the purpose of crime against nature has been charged to three young Raleigh men, who were arrested last Thursday night on Hillsborough Street. The arrests were spearheaded by Detective Kenneth J. Johnson, who stated that all three were dressed in women's clothing at the time they were nabbed.

Charged were Eddie Lamar Herring, 28, 312 Carver Street; Larry McEachern, 25, 1517 E. Jones Street, and Vernon Lee Taylor, 25, 537 E. Martin St.

Detective Johnson said the three were arrested in the 300 block of Hillsborough after they allegedly propositioned male police officers working in an undercover capacity.

According to the detective, the operation in which the three were nabbed is part of a continuing crackdown to reduce both female and male prostitution in the city.

Hearings for the trio are scheduled this week in Wake District Court.

Poverty Lawyers' Meeting

National Black News Service WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Legal Aid and Defender Association (NLADA) will hold its 55th annual conference at the Detroit Plaza Hotel (in Detroit's new Renaissance Center) Oct. 26-29.

David Levy, acting executive director of the association said, the group will explore methods to "build constituencies for the expansion of legal services in both civil and legal defender fields."

He noted that as of the 1970 census there were an estimated 29 million "poor" people under the national poverty level in the country. (The poverty level is $5,500 for a non-family of four).

Keynote speakers at the confab include Wade H. McCree, Solicitor General of the U. S. and Benjamin L. Hooks, executive director of the NAACP. Both are black.

McCree, who will speak on Thursday, Oct. 27, was appointed. (See LAWYERS, P. 2)

WASHINGTON, D.C. —

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference's executive director, Rev. Hosea Williams, has launched a scathing attack against much of the rest of the civil rights leadership, reserving his most negative comments for Operation PUSH Director Jesse Jackson and Mrs. Coretta Scott King, widow of the slain SCLC founder, Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Williams, who was named executive director at the SCLC's Atlanta convention last month, made his criticism on America's Black Forum, the first nationally syndicated black news interview program on commercial television.

Vowing a national campaign of non-violent street protest, Williams said, "The black people's problem is not the people themselves, it's the leaders. It seems like every time a leader is elevated to the position of leadership, he forgets the masses and begins making overtures to the power structure."

FAYETTEVILLE — Convicted for the second-degree murder of Ricky Miller, white, and sentenced to 30-40 years in the prisons of North Carolina, with a minimum release of 30 years, Terry Wayne McDougal, 17-year-old black high school student, allegedly collapsed as Judge Giles Clark pronounced the sentence near this military-base (Fort Bragg) last weekend.

So hysterical was Terry's public defender, Ms. Mary Ann Talley, after the verdict and sentence, that she had to be taken out of the courtroom before proceedings could continue. A sparse courtroom of sympathizers stood in shock and his mother wailed emotional pleas that an injustice had been done.

Robert Beatty, executive director of the Cumberland County Citizen's Association, said efforts are under way to raise bail if a bail for Terry is granted by Clark. Clark denied a request for bail at the sentencing saying that bail would not be granted at that time.

The two-week long trial had drawn the attention of many of the townspeople despite the sparsely-populated courtroom.

The circumstantial evidence that convinced the jury of 10 whites and two blacks, all over fifty years of age, amounted to the following: On the morning of January 6th, Terry and Bobby Miller, the deceased brother were playing basket-

George Meany Backs Black Leaders' Claims

WASHINGTON, D.C. — National Black News Service WASHINGTON, D.C. — George Meany, president of the powerful American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations

(AFL-CIO), has thrown his support with those black leaders who have accused President Carter of neglecting black and urban affairs.

In New York last week, 15 black leaders met to "launch a counterattack on the callous neglect of blacks, the poor and America's cities." The "summit" meeting was convened by Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League. He said there was universal agreement that the solution to the problem must begin with a full employment policy.

At a news conference after the AFL-CIO's quarterly executive council meeting here, Meany said that in last year's campaign Carter "raised the expectations of these people, and they are disappointed."

"I am sure they have reason to be disappointed," he added. Meany said he found himself "in sympathy" with the views expressed by the black community. He said that "the greatest crime being committed today is being committed against the black community, against the black teenagers and the white teenagers."

In 1976, Meany noted, President Carter's top priority was jobs, not balancing the budget. Now, the Administration's priorities must be "reordered" to make jobs again the top priority, he added.

"I think this is the real complaint of the black community," he said (See G. MEANY, P. 2)
