Dr. Craig Is Installed

Student Mauled, Treated

Four young men, apparently angry because a would-be robbery victim had no money, are being sought by Raleigh police officers in the Monday night stabbing and beating of a 23-year-old student, who required treatment at a local hospital.

Michael Robert Dulin, 5235-A Dana Dr., who attends N.C. State University here and hails from Charlotte, told "the law" that the attack occurred about 8 p.m. Monday on Morrill Dr., in woods behind the university's Carmichael Gymnasium on the campus.

Dulin was taken to Wake Medical Center, where he was treated for cuts and bruises on the abdomen and face.

According to the victim, he and other students had been taking part in intramural football.

"I was back at my car when these four guys jumped me. I told them I didn't have anything. I was wearing sweat pants and a sweat shirt and had left my wallet elsewhere."

He continued, "I guess that made them mad that I didn't have anything, so they carried me over in the woods and (See STABBERS, P. 2)

Some $459,736 in back wages was restored to 5,516 employees during fiscal year 1977 as a result of investigations made by the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division area office at Raleigh.

Area director Jose Fernandez said violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) accounted for the major portion of underpayments by employers.

He reported that workers received $390,662 in back (See BACK WAGES, P. 2)

In his telegram to the President, Benjamin L. Hooks, executive director, also urged that the U. S. delegation to the United Nations "be authorized (See S. AFRICA, P. 2)

Council Divided On Bids

BY WILLIE WHITE
Staff Writer

A review of tape recordings of last week's Raleigh City Council meeting indicates that there was no concrete basis for a daily newspaper article Monday accusing Councilman William R. "Bill" Knight of official misdoings.

Knight was accused of recommending that the city of Raleigh buy leaf loaders from the higher of two bidders. The article then tied that to the fact that Knight has received campaign contributions from the president of the company and the president's wife.

The issue grows out of a long council discussion in the Oct. 18 council meeting in which officials were divided on whether to accept a low bid of $63,439.18 from Carolina Equipment Co., or a higher bid of $76,825 from North Carolina Equipment Co.

The issue was discussed and acted upon last week because it was held over from the Oct. 4 council meeting on a motion of Councilman James Womble.

According to official excerpts from that meeting, "He (Womble) indicated that many times in the past, the council went with the low bid to save a few dollars when actually another company had a better product to offer."

The Womble motion delayed (See TAPES SHOW, P. 2)

Approximately 100 laymen and ministers of the Cape Fear Presbytery of the Piedmont Synod, United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America (UPUSA), meeting here at Davie Street United Presbyterian Church in Raleigh, passed a resolution, Oct. 20, deploring the failure of Tarheel's judicial system to grant any type of pardon or executive clemency to the Wilmington Ten, including Rev. Ben Chavis, on the charge of allegedly fire-bombing the store of a white man during the height of racial turmoil a few years ago. (A white female has been let out on probation).

Minority Funding Ended By Judge

LOS ANGELES — A federal judge recently ordered a halt to the practice of awarding 10 percent of federal public works funds to minority businesses. In granting a temporary restraining order, U.S. District Court Judge A. Andrew Hauk said minority quota systems are "invidious and unconstitutional."

Hauk issued the order to the city, county and federal government to prevent implementation of the federal Public Works Employment Act of 1977. The act requires at least 10 percent of public funds provided by the act to be spent with minority businesses.

'Spirit Awakening' Seen By Robinson

Speaking at the One Hundred Eleventh Formal Opening Convocation at Saint Augustine's College, Raleigh, Tuesday, October 25, Dr. Prezell R. Robinson, president, said "This is truly a Red Letter Day for us here at Saint Augustine's College, because I believe we are witnessing an intellectual renaissance—a reawakening of the inner spirit; a new and intensified spark has been ignited; I believe I observe an insatiable thirst for knowledge and a hunger for learning." He stated that this has been a process evolving for several years.

Dr. Robinson admitted that during the late sixties, Saint Augustine's responded to changes in the college's academic life-styles, many of which were good; but in his opinion, some responses made at the request of the students were not necessarily in the best interest of the college. Expressing gratitude to the faculty, trustee board and student body, he noted positive changes which the college designedly set out to bring about in an orderly manner.

He said that more Saint Augustine's students are going on to graduate and professional schools than ever before. "It is no accident that this college has returned to a modified system of compulsory class attendance; it is not happenstance that we are now holding regular assemblies and bringing to our campus a wider variety of speakers and pro-

"WHERE QUALITY AND ECONOMY PREVAIL"

PRESSURE MOUNTS IN U.N. — United Nations — Acting in solidarity, the group of African delegations Monday demanded in the U.N. Security Council a comprehensive arms embargo against South Africa and an embargo on further investments. The Africans requested last week that the Council meet on South Africa's latest measures to suppress its black opposition - the mass roundup and arrest of black and white dissidents and the closing down of black newspapers. Shown here speaking on behalf of the group is Amb. Mahmoud Mestiri (L.) of Tunisia, who said the time had come for the Council to act beyond condemning the South Africans. At right is David Sibeko, representative of the Pan Africanist Congress of Azania (PAC), a black liberation movement in South Africa proper. (UPI)
