

Employees At Raleigh's Wake Medical Center

3 Blacks 'Expose' Hospital Practices

PROTEST DISCRIMINATION AT HOSPITAL. — Shown above are the persons who were interviewed last Saturday at The CAROLINIAN concerning alleged discriminatory practices at Wake Medical Center here. Left-to-right are: Mrs. Mollie McLaughlin, a former employee; Dr. Jim Grant, United Church of Christ's Commission for Racial Justice; Joseph Green, employee; and Mrs. Ernestine Young, employee. (See story in columns of this edition).

Knight Comments On R. Campbell

Editor's Note: Raleigh City Councilman William Rogers (Bill) Knight came into The CAROLINIAN office Tuesday and left the following reply to what he termed were charges made against Knight, Mrs. Elizabeth Blas Outfield, Wake County Commissioner, and Attorney and Mrs. Daniel Blue by Raleigh-Wake Citizens Association (R-WCA) president Ralph Campbell.

It will be hard to understand by some, if it were not so clear that the closeness of any political race (a vote of 19 to 18) in which one is reelected, as in Mr. Campbell's case, would indicate a need for "mending the fences" rather than further divisiveness.

The Raleigh Times article of See COUNCILMAN, P. 10)

Women's Caucus Planned

Women from across North Carolina's eleven Congressional Districts will gather March 17th and 18th in Greensboro for the second state meeting of the North Carolina Black Women's Political Caucus (NCBWPC). This meeting grew out of a resolution which was passed at the September, 1977, gathering stating that in six months, the Caucus was to meet again to assess its progress and further define its goals.

Registration for the conference will open at 12 noon on Friday, the 17th, and the opening session will begin at 1 p.m. Workshops on career development and alternatives are scheduled for the afternoon as well as seminars on how to use the political system in order to effect changes.

In order to attract women of every social, economic and political background, the Caucus has designed workshops which cover a wide range of career choices. Black Women in Business, will be conducted with the assistance of the Small Business Administration and will deal with problems black women encounter in owning and

(See CAUCUS, P. 2)

First In Black Woman Now In Smithsonian

Nation's Black News Service WASHINGTON, D.C. — Dr. Nannie Helen Burroughs (1878-1961), a noted woman educator from Washington, D.C. has become the first black woman to be included in the Smithsonian's Women's History collection housed in the National Museum of History and Technology.

The large collection of clothing, photographs and personal memorabilia was donated to the Smithsonian by

BLACK NATIONALIST LEADER DIES — Kimberley, South Africa — Robert Mabokwe, the black nationalist leader who spent the last 27 years either in jail or under restrictions, died Feb. 27 of lung cancer. He was 54. Three of Mabokwe's four children, are with U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young in the U.S. Young, who has called Mabokwe a close friend. He said the South African leader wanted to give the children a U.S. education. (UPI)

Church Observes 166 Years

The Reverend Dr. Samuel A. Raper of Shelby will be the anniversary speaker at 11 a.m. Sunday, at First Baptist Church here.

In addition to being the 166th anniversary speaker, Raper will lead in the Training Experience in progress at First Baptist Friday at 6:30 p.m. and Saturday at 4 p.m.

All church members and friends are invited to share in a unique learning experience.

(See CHURCH, P. 2)

Gen. James Dies At 58

THE CAROLINIAN

North Carolina's Leading Weekly

VOL. 37 NO. 17

HALEIGH, N.C., THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1978

SINGLE COPY 20c

For Southeast Raleigh

New School Seen

★★★

★★★

★★★

For Nation's Leaders

US Elks' Youth In City

Demands Of Blacks Soothed

BY WILLIE WHITE
Staff Writer

Southeast Raleigh is a step closer to a new elementary school as a result of a Tuesday night meeting of Wake County School Board's Facilities Committee.

Meeting for about 15 minutes and without any controversy, the committee of four school officials approved a motion for the school and a new stadium for Broughton High School. Neither drew any opposition.

At the beginning of the meeting, Board Chairman A. Roy Tilley, formerly a chief opponent of the school, asked if the committee was dealing with a question of a school somewhere in southeast Raleigh, or specifically on Cross Link Road.

Vernon Malone, former board chairman and now the only black member of the board, said that he and the black community were not bound to the 17-acre Cross Link Road site. Rather, he said he wanted to see a school on a "suitable site in that neighborhood (southeast Raleigh) that we can readily identify with."

Committee member Dick Moore made the first motion for building the school. But after a brief discussion as to how the motion should be worded, Moore asked Malone to make the motion and pledged his second.

Malone's motion was that "The Board of Education include in its package to the Board of County Commissioners sufficient amounts of money to build an elementary school in southeast Raleigh."

(See SCHOOL, P. 2)

FIGHTING FOR SCHOOL — Scores of black citizens gathered Sunday afternoon at St. Ambrose Episcopal Church to continue their fight for a school in southeast Raleigh. In top photo, Wake County School Board member Vernon Malone (standing) and civic leader Ralph Campbell (seated third from left) participate in discussion. In bottom photo are some of the many citizens who attended. Father Arthur Calloway is pastor of St. Ambrose and has been in the fore-front of the fight. (See story).

Three-Day Caucus Of Elks' Leaders Set At Hilton Inn

The Elks' Grand Lodge National Youth Council retreat for Directors and Directresses will convene March 3, 4, 5, at the Hilton Inn, Raleigh. This organization is the largest black "sternity in the world with a membership of 450,000 members. Hobson R. Reynolds, Grand Exalter Ruler, is the head of this organization.

The Elk's National office recently moved their headquarters to Winton, Philadelphia, Pa. It's now located directly in front of the Hobson R. Reynolds Elks' National Shrine, which the members built several years ago.

Williams S. Lackey, Grand Director, of Statesville, and Mrs. Anna Mae Robinson, Grand Directress, of Gary, Indiana will preside over the conference. Directors and Directresses from across the United States and the Bahamas will be present.

Saturday, March 4, at 10

a.m., the opening sessions will be held. Speaker for this occasion is Ronald E. Penn, a senior at the UNC School of Law. Musical selections will be provided by the Shaw University United Heritage Gospel

Choir. The public is invited to this session.

Workshops for the weekend will be conducted by the following: Richard H. Dennis, (See US ELKS', P. 2)

Mrs. Flagg Honored As "Woman Of The Year"

The Omicron Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. began its Finer Womanhood Week activities with an impressive rededication ceremony, which was held Feb. 25, at Tuttle Community Center, Raleigh. Finer Womanhood Week Observance committee members were Sorors Susie

(See ZETAS FETE, P. 2)

2 Readers Win Week's Appreciation

Leslie Graham, Jr., of 2822 Friaruck, and Ms. Odessa Dennis, of 318 N. Carver, were winners of Appreciation Money checks this week because they found their names in the last edition of The CAROLINIAN. Graham's name was in the FCX Service advertisement and Ms. Dennis' name was in the Hudson Bell advertisement. The name of Howard W. Huston, of 801 Carlisle, was (See APPRECIATION, P. 2)

1977 "WOMAN OF THE YEAR" CITED — Soror Mary M. Barber, left, presents a plaque to Mrs. Mary A. Flagg, Raleigh's 1977 "Woman of the Year" at a luncheon that was held for the honoree at the Martin Luther King, Jr. Student Union, St. Augustine's College, Raleigh. (See story).

Young Position Blasted

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's ranking Republican, Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, last Saturday criticized U.N. Ambassador Andrew J. Young, Jr.'s views on a Rhodesian settlement and said the U.S. delegate to the United Nations was in disagreement with the State Department about the matter.

In a letter, Sen. Case also accused Ambassador Young of approving different standards

(See YOUNG IS, P. 2)

WEATHER

The five-day weather forecast for the period of Wednesday through Sunday is as follows. Highs will be in the 60s and lows are expected to dip into the upper teens in the mountains and mid 30s elsewhere. Thursday through Sunday is expected to be near normal temperature-wise. Cloudy skies, accompanied by some rain is looked for on Saturday, becoming partly cloudy Sunday.

INVESTIGATE CIGARETTE BOOTLEGGING — Washington — Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania (left) arrives to testify before a House Judiciary subcommittee on Crime Feb. 28. He is greeted by Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., chairman of the subcommittee. The panel is investigating cigarette bootlegging. (UPI)

CRIME BEAT

From Raleigh's Official Police Files

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column or feature is produced in the public interest with an aim towards eliminating its contents. Anonymous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their listing on the police blotters. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of the Crime Beat (column, merely) means not being registered by a police officer in reporting his findings while on duty. So simply keep off the "blotters" and you won't be in "The Crime Beat."

FEMALE ASSAULTED At 11:45 p.m. Monday, Ms. Miriam McLeod, 1215 S. East St., was assaulted at her East St. residence, according to police reports. Officer R. D. Barbour answered the call. The victim, who was attacked by beating, suffered bruises and abrasions about the head and face. The police report concluded.

(See CRIME BEAT P. 10)

Appreciation Money
SPOTLIGHT THIS WEEK
NATURAL HEALTH FOODS
"FOR THE BEST NUTRITION, NATURALLY"