Charlotte 3 March Sat.

Backers Of Trio Rallying

There will be a demonstration for the "Charlotte Three" on Saturday, October 27, at 12 noon in Raleigh. The march will begin at Chavis Park and end at the Capitol on Wilmington Street. The "Charlotte Three," T.J. Reddy, Jim Grant, and Charles Parker, are black men who were convicted in 1971 of burning a horse stable there.

The supporters of the "Charlotte Three" maintain that the three are political prisoners of the U.S. These three men who had been active in political and social programs to benefit the people of their community were convicted for 10, 20, and 25 years, reportedly because of their political beliefs.

According to a Charlotte newspaper, these are the largest sentences for unlawful burnings ever given in the state of North Carolina.

The march will be sponsored by the ad hoc committee to free the "Charlotte Three." For more information, contact the ad hoc committee to Defend the "Charlotte Three," care of the Commission for Racial Justice, 19 W. Hargett Street, Suite 808, Raleigh, N.C. 27601.

City Man Is Shot In Back

Claudius Junior Caldwell, 23-year-old resident of 3008 Snowberry Drive (Idlewood Subdivision), was shot in the back in the 1800 block of New Bern Avenue here about 11:50 p.m. Sunday, according to Raleigh police authorities.

Officials at Wake Medical Center told a CAROLINIAN representative early Tuesday that young Caldwell's condition was stable.

The victim informed "the law" that he and some friends were riding around when he spotted a man whom he declared, owed him some (See SHOT IN, P. 2)

Transition In OIC Underway In City

BY ALEXANDER BARNES
In an exclusive interview with The CAROLINIAN, just before press time Wednesday, Peter L. Stanford, director, Raleigh Opportunities Industrialization Center (OIC), said that due to the fact that the OIC was originally funded through grants from the federal government, and a new procedure had been instituted, the office was now in the process of changing from direct grants to a referral system.

He said that the new system meant that students are now referred by agencies in need of students to fill jobs with firms and industries that have openings. He also said that students are now registering for a new term. It was also learned that the staff is now being oriented to properly prosecute the new procedure.

Stanford was quite pleased with the service OIC has contributed since its beginning in 1975. The record shows that in the 3 years of operation, 148 persons were trained and 105 were placed. Upon this result, Mr. Stanford was quite confident that OIC had made a definite contribution to the community, by training underprivileged persons to command efficiently jobs that were not possible before the advent of OIC.

He set out the following as the credo of OIC and said that the new policy would greatly enhance its image:

"Everything that OIC does should reflect its basic philosophy. We can state this philosophy in several points including Dr. (Leon S.) Sullivan's (founder) motto: 'Integration without preparation is frustration.'"

"OIC considers itself a part of the outgrowth of the war on poverty and that its services are most available to the poor, (See OIC PLANS, P. 2)

WEATHER

The five-day forecast for the period Wednesday, Oct. 25, through Sunday, Oct. 29, is as follows: High pressure will keep skies clear for the next two days over North Carolina, except in the mountains, where partly cloudy skies should arrive by Thursday.

Temperatures will become warmer on Thursday as the high-pressure area moves offshore and winds become more southerly. Highs Wednesday reached near 70 and highs Thursday will be a few degrees warmer. Lows Wednesday night were in the upper 40s in the east and the upper 30s in the mountains. The extended outlook calls for cloudy skies Friday with a possibility of showers. Saturday and Sunday will be sunny and warmer.

Lows for the period are expected to be in the 40s inland and the upper 30s in the North Carolina mountains.

DR. M.L. KING, SR.

Dr. King Clinton's Keynote

BY MRS. A.M. JOHNSON CLINTON — The pastor and members of First Baptist Church, Clinton, will celebrate their Centennial, commencing November 6 and ending November 12.

Services will be held at the church each night, beginning at 7:30. The Centennial Choir will be featured at the regular Sunday morning services.

The celebration will be climaxed with an address by Dr. Martin Luther King, Sr., to be held on Sunday, November 12, at 4:30 p.m., at the Clinton High School Gymnasium.

It is a tribute to have such a great man as Dr. King in our city. There will be a fee of $5.00. Children under 12 will be admitted free.

The Rev. Clifford A. Jones is pastor of Clinton's First Baptist Church.

Drinking, Drug Use On T.V.

WRAL-TV, Channel 5, will present "Not My Child," a special series about adolescents, alcohol and drugs Monday, October 30, through Friday, November 3. Each segment will be shown on the 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. newscasts.

In the five-part series, reporter Aviva Diamond examines the problem of alcohol and drug abuse by area adolescents. The title, "Not My Child," reflects the difficulty parents have in recognizing a drug or alcohol problem exists for their child.

Intended Victim Wounded

DUNN — Tony Chapman, 26, of Dunn, an alleged innocent bystander, was shot to death here Friday night as two other men argued over an old debt. Another man is in stable condition, while a third is languishing in the Harnett County Jail on a murder rap.

The "fuss" reportedly took place at a night spot, known as the Old Hotel, 600 N. Wilson Avenue, where Alphonza Monds, 46, and Roger Shaw, 47, argued over the debt.

Chapman was reported to be an innocent bystander who was caught up in the violence, according to Dunn Police Captain Jimmy Mohiser.

Captain Mohiser stated that a fight began in the Old Hotel between Monds and Shaw. Shaw was reported in stable condition at N.C. Memorial Hospital, Chapel Hill, Tuesday, where he is being treated for facial cuts and a chest wound. Monds was first jailed on an assault charge in connection with Shaw's injuries.

The dead man was shot in the left side of his neck and in the chest with a .22 calibre pistol as he attempted to leave the scene of the violence, Captain Mohiser said. He succumbed at Betsy (See SLAIN IN, P. 2)

Logs Are Given By Agnew Firm

Many needy families will be warmer this winter as a result of a recent donation Wake County Opportunities received from Agnew Environmental Products.

The Agency received 2,186 cases of AGLO fire logs, which will be distributed in Wake County Opportunities' Fuel Assistance Program in the upcoming months.

AGLO fire logs are pure wood and non-toxic. Unlike many other wood fire logs, these logs do not contain any paraffin and they offer continuous burning.

Allied Brokerage Company in Raleigh represents Agnew Environmental Products. Stuart Aker of the Allied Brokerage Company contacted Wake County Opportunities about the donation and the cases of fire logs were eagerly received. According to O.G. Byrd, energy coordinator for Wake Opportunities, "A lot of people will be helped by this donation. It's this kind of response from industry that indicates real care for people in need."

NC NAACP Vows Black In Nat'l Post

CHARLOTTE — Perhaps the most dynamic resolution that came out of the 35th annual meeting of the State Conference of NAACP Branches which closed here Sunday was the announcement of Kelly Miller Alexander, Sr., president, that the Political Action Committee would exert enough political clout to find a suitable candidate (black) in either one of the major political parties to be elected to the U.S. Congress in 1980. (See STATE NAACP, P. 2)

Politics Main Thrust Of NC General Baptist Meeting

BY ALEXANDER BARNES FAYETTEVILLE — Politics seem to be the main thrust of the N.C. General Baptist State Convention as the delegates moved into the Wednesday session, Oct. 25. John Ingram won the endorsement for the U.S. Senate, while local Democratic candidates got the nod for both state and local offices. The CAROLINIAN was not able to ascertain whether any Republican candidates were invited to appear.

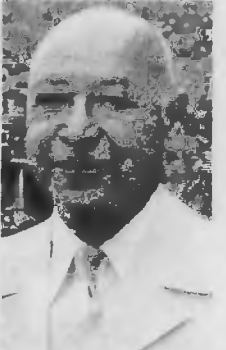

The race for the presidency of the largest black religious body in the state was considered a toss-up between Dr. J. Ray Butler, Winston-Salem; Dr. J. R. Manly, Chapel Hill, and Dr. E. B. Turner, Lumberton. One delegate is said to have claimed, "There is not 15 cents worth of difference between any of the candidates." Dr. J. J. Johnson, the retiring head, gave a preview of his annual address Tuesday night when he got resolutions passed that commended President Jimmy Carter for his work in human rights, both at (See POLITICS, P. 2)

Long before Monday, Oct. 23, the night of the historical fund-raising banquet, sponsored by the Political Action Committee of the Raleigh-Wake Citizens Association in the Martin Luther King Student Center, St. Augustine's College, for sheriff candidate John Hayward Baker, Jr., tickets were hard to obtain.

Thus a crowd of about five hundred friends, supporters, office-seekers and office-holders attended this crowd, in a festive mood, but at the same time filled with an air of solidarity, enthusiastically (See JOHN BAKER, P. 2)

ATTENDS WHITE HOUSE BRIEFING, LUNCHEON — Ralph E. Campbell, Sr., of 819 E. Edenton St., president of the Raleigh-Wake Citizens Association, received a Mailgram from the White House in Washington, D.C. on Saturday, Oct. 21. The Mailgram contained an invitation to a briefing and read as follows: "President Carter invites you to the White House at 7:45 a.m. on Wednesday, October 25, for a briefing by his senior advisers, including Ambassador Andrew Young, followed by a buffet luncheon with him. Confirmation or regrets required. Call Linda Baker at 292-456-1414."

The invitation was signed by Louis Martin, Special Assistant to the President. Other Raleigh blacks who received similar invitations were: Harold Webb, state personnel director, John Wesley Winters, Sr., former state senator and now a member of the N.C. Utilities Commission, John W. Winters, Jr., John H. Baker, Jr., former aide to U.S. Senator Robert B. Morgan (D-N.C.), and State Senator Clarence Everett Lightner, former Raleigh mayor. All attended the briefing, except Mr. Baker, who is presently in the midst of a campaign to become Wake County's first black sheriff since Reconstruction.
