

CRIME BEAT

(Continued from page 1)

PROPERTY BURNED

Officer M. W. Brown reported that on Sunday at 6 p.m. at 3012 Burrell Pl., an arson was committed. The offense reported concluded, property was attacked by burning.

INTENDED TO RAPE

Thomas Junior Liles, age 27, of Coats, N.C., was arrested and charged with assault with intent to rape. The alleged assault took place at 2733 Newbold St. at 1:25 a.m. Saturday, the report said.

BREAKS NARCOTIC LAW

Michael Anthony Harris, 1510-E Quail Ridge Road, was arrested and charged with simple possession of marijuana. According to police reports, the alleged offense took place at 9:50 a.m. at the Quail Ridge Rd. address on Monday.

STEALS SWEATER SHIRT

A 13-year-old juvenile was arrested and charged with shoplifting. The alleged larceny took place Monday at the Junction at 4325 Glenwood Avenue, the report continued. One blue sweater shirt, valued at $14, was taken.

ATTEMPTS LARCENY

David Tabron, Jr., 2359 Derby Drive, was arrested and charged with attempted larceny. The 20-year-old Tabron allegedly removed a brown portfolio, valued at $25, by carrying it away from J. C. Penny, Inc., 100 North Hills Mall, at 9:08 p.m. Wednesday.

ASSAULTS FEMALE

Kemp Hill Thorpe, 814 Harp St., has been arrested and charged with assault on a female, according to police reports. The 39-year-old Thorpe allegedly attacked Eloise Bostic, 32 years old, at 905 Harp Terrace by striking her with his hands, fists and feet on the upper body. The offense occurred at 6 a.m. Sunday, the report ended.

DEFAUDS INKKEEPER

Officer C. M. Murray reported that Saturday at 11:40 p.m. at the Do Drop Inn Diner, 2010 Poole Rd., a subject allegedly refused to pay. Wesley Earl Thorpe allegedly ate and refused to pay for $14 worth of food, according to police reports. The 21-year-old Thorpe, 3900 Kentwood Dr., was arrested and charged with defrauding an inkkeeper.

STEALS HANDBAG

Samuel James Jackson, 704 Wexford Rd., Apt. F, has been arrested and charged with larceny of a ladies' brown handbag and its contents, valued at $100, according to police reports. The alleged offense took place at 1013 Jones Franklin Rd. Wednesday, by removing from Chandler Swim Club without owner's permission, the report said.

NABBED FOR ARMED ROBBERY

Vernon Lee Taylor, 1364 Walnut St., has been arrested and charged with armed robbery by threatening James Douglas Allen with a knife, according to police reports. The 24-year-old Taylor allegedly robbed Allen of $100 Thursday on Fayetteville Rd., the report ended.

3 NABBED FOR LARCENY

Carder McCray, 904 Coleman St., Mailene Cable, 1310 Poole Rd., and Debra Bryant, 1212 Walnut St., were arrested and charged with larceny of $180 from James Edward Long, Rt. 1, Apex, according to police reports. The incident allegedly took place at 2716 S. Wilmington St. at 2 a.m. Saturday, the report said.

DR. HORNE

(Continued from page 1)

Dr. Horne, immaculately attired in a flowing evening gown, was the guest of honor at a "This Is Your Life" type of affair, noting her retirement, effective in December of this year.

Tributes were paid her by persons from all walks of life: from a black N.C. Court of Appeals, judge, to the president and president-elect of the General Baptist State Convention of N.C., Inc., co-sponsors of the lavish event.

Presiding as mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Georgia M. Turner of Lumberton, president of the WB&PMC. The keynote speaker was Dr. Horne's minister, the Rev. Dr. Kelly O. P. Goodwin, pastor-emeritus of the Mount Zion Baptist Church, Winston-Salem, who portrayed the honoree as a virtuous woman, having chosen his discourse from the book of Proverbs. He cited her many attributes, her sacrifices, disappointments, achievements and especially her faith in Almighty God as qualities which would be hard to duplicate in choosing a worthy successor.

A native of North Carolina, Dr. Horne is the daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Isom D. Dunlap. She is also the widow of the Rev. Moses Alexander Horne of Winston-Salem. She received her education in the public schools of Winston-Salem and is a graduate of Winston-Salem State University. Her religious training was obtained at Shaw University, Raleigh, and she was awarded the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from the latter institution in 1977.

A former classroom teacher, Dr. Horne is a member of local, state and national Baptist organizations, a few of which are: Board of Trustees, Shaw Divinity School; NAACP; Board of Directors, Central Orphanage, Oxford; Board of Directors, National Woman's Convention, Auxiliary of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., where she serves as co-director of its business and finance committee; appeared in Who's Who of National Woman's Convention, and was appointed chairperson of the National Woman's Convention Budget Committee.

Known locally, statewide and nationally for her fund-raising ability, Dr. Horne was cited by many of her peers last Friday for her expertise in this area. She was also the recipient of many cash gifts from organizations and individuals.

A special tribute was paid to Dr. Horne by Ms. Betty J. Chisolm, assistant to the executive director, who informed the overflow audience of Mrs. Horne's patience, guidance, admonitions and, most of all, her love for her staff and all people. Other members of Dr. Horne's staff include: Mrs. Gladys S. Watlington, bookkeeper; and Ms. Ivory M. Williamson, secretary.

Handling public relations for the affair was the Rev. Samuel R. Johnson, Jr., of Salisbury, who coordinated press and television coverage.

Among the state and national personalities paying homage to Dr. Horne so that she "can smell her flowers while she is living" were the following persons and/or organizations: Youth Department of the State Baptist Convention; Young Adult Department; Dr. Jordon C. Harris, director of activities, youth Bible Camp; William Jackson, camp expert, Baptist Assembly; Mrs. Harriet S. Jones, Woman's Convention; Dr. Calvin C. Craig, executive secretary and treasurer, General Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Inc.; Dr. Otha Lee Sherrill, former executive secretary; Dr. Jerry Drayton, the executive committee; Dr. C. R. Edwards, former president of the convention; Dr. Joy Joseph Johnson, president-elect; H. V. Bryant, supt., Central Orphanage, Oxford; Dr. E. Burns Turner, chairman, Shaw Divinity School Board of Trustees; Dr. Stanley H. Smith, president of Shaw University; Dr. John W. Fleming, co-director, public, church and alumni relations, Shaw University.

Others paying tribute included: Dr. W. R. Grigg, former secretary, Cooperative Ministries; Miss Nancy Curtis, director, the Woman's Missionary Union; Dr. Corbin Cooper, director, Dept. of Cooperative Ministries; Mrs. Essie Lennon, Winston-Salem and Forsyth County; the Rev. H. Wesley Wiley, co-worker, Washington, D.C.; Dr. Mary Agnes Jordan, Lott Carey Baptist Convention's Woman's Auxiliary, Portsmouth, Va.; Mrs. Vera M. Slade, president, Lott Carey Woman's Auxiliary; Dr. Wendell C. Somerville, executive secretary and treasurer, Lott Carey Foreign Mission Convention, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Sandy F. Ray, corresponding secretary, National Woman's Convention, U.S.A., Inc., Brooklyn, N.Y.; Dr. Susie C. Holley, first vice president and president of the Florida State Woman's Convention; Mrs. Clara N. Hayes, chairperson, executive board, Woman's Convention.

Following the tributes, Dr. Horne gave a fitting response. Moving solos were provided by some of the area's top vocalists. Invocation and grace were offered by the Rev. Dr. J. Ray Butler, chairman, General Board, General Baptist State Convention of N.C., and pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Church, Winston-Salem; and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Ward, pastor, First Baptist Church, 101 S. Wilmington St., Raleigh.

The menu consisted of tossed salad, turkey and dressing, string beans, candied yams, rolls and butter, tea and coffee and apple pie.

BAPTISTS

(Continued from page 1)

ization, and held at 2:30 p.m., Nov. 10. The call got widespread distribution.

Dr. Turner read and distributed what could be described as a "Bill of Particulars," which was entitled, "Unfair, Un-Baptist and Illegal Acts," purported to have taken place at the meeting of the General Baptist State Convention, presided over by the outgoing president, the Rev. Dr. Joy Joseph Johnson of Fairmont.

SEN. BOND

(Continued from page 1)

It is to be remembered that Senator Bond was denied a seat in the Georgia legislature because of what was termed his "radical tendencies." He not only retained his seat, but was reelected.

He saw the Bakke decision, along with the tax revolt, as signs of bad times for blacks. It was his thinking that it is the old cliché of dividing and conquering. "An unemployed person cannot stand up firmly with nothing in his stomach." He further deplored the Bakke decision by saying it was impossible for 18 percent of a country's population to usurp the rights of a democratic way of life. He said, "We have a quota system for the male and the pale."

BLACK PARENTS'

(Continued from page 1)

board representative, the Cross Link School proposal was included in the new school request package.

Competency testing is another area where the Black Parents' Association is continually involved. Through organizing seminars, held in five different communities, the group sought to prepare students and parents for the test and what it means.

Mr. Thompson stated that, "These are the things (competency test and school sites) that capture the public interest, but do not represent the areas of greatest need. The self-worth of black children is what we must protect. The image that they hold of themselves has the greatest bearing on how children perform. This year, the BPA will be working more in this area through the use of seminars and special activities. We will be increasing parental involvement in supporting the children as they strive to achieve and will continue to watch-dog those activities of the school system that affect black children."

The Black Parents' Association meets each third Sunday at 6 p.m. at Robert's Center on East Martin St. All concerned citizens are asked to attend.

APPRECIATION

(Continued from page 1)

paid for by Jeffries Jewelers, 137 S. Salisbury St.

Two other names were listed, but no one claimed the $10 checks by the noon Monday deadline. They were Ms. Nellie Montgomery, whose name is in Hudson-Bell's ad; and Ms. Eleanor H. Hester, Heilig-Levine Furniture, corner of S. Wilmington and E. Hargett Streets.

Be sure to read THE CAROLINIAN carefully. Then check the back page of the front section for your name. It just might be there.

If so, don't go to the merchant involved, but first come to this office, 518 E. Martin St., identify yourself, and if you are the right person, then THE CAROLINIAN will check you out and direct you to the business which holds your $10 check.

HOOKS NAMES

(Continued from page 1)

at Morgan State University, and will practice law with his son, Michael, in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Mitchell, who has been affectionately called the "God-father" of the 1964 Civil Rights Bill, after an initial career as a newspaper reporter, started his NAACP career as Labor Director, before assuming the post of Washington Bureau Director. He has served on various governmental committees, including the President's Fair Employment Practice Committee, the War Manpower Commission, the War Production Board and the President's Committee to Employ the Physically Handicapped; under the Truman and Eisenhower Administrations.

NEW ACTION

(Continued from page 1)

Brewington, evoked a commitment from the audience to get that health hazard abated.

backed this idea with this statement, "We need people and people need us."

SEN. BOND

(Continued from page 1)

He placed political action high on the list of priorities. He urged his audience to aid black business enterprises and placed great emphasis on financial institutions. He was mindful of the fact that if black churches needed money to expand their operations, black lending agencies would certainly look, with favor, on their applications.

BLACK PARENTS'

(Continued from page 1)

board representative, the Cross Link School proposal was included in the new school request package.

Competency testing is another area where the Black Parents' Association is continually involved. Through organizing seminars, held in five different communities, the group sought to prepare students and parents for the test and what it means.

Mr. Thompson stated that, "These are the things (competency test and school sites) that capture the public interest, but do not represent the areas of greatest need. The self-worth of black children is what we must protect. The image that they hold of themselves has the greatest bearing on how children perform. This year, the BPA will be working more in this area through the use of seminars and special activities. We will be increasing parental involvement in supporting the children as they strive to achieve and will continue to watch-dog those activities of the school system that affect black children."

APPRECIATION

(Continued from page 1)

paid for by Jeffries Jewelers, 137 S. Salisbury St.

Two other names were listed, but no one claimed the $10 checks by the noon Monday deadline. They were Ms. Nellie Montgomery, whose name is in Hudson-Bell's ad; and Ms. Eleanor H. Hester, Heilig-Levine Furniture, corner of S. Wilmington and E. Hargett Streets.

Be sure to read THE CAROLINIAN carefully. Then check the back page of the front section for your name. It just might be there.

If so, don't go to the merchant involved, but first come to this office, 518 E. Martin St., identify yourself, and if you are the right person, then THE CAROLINIAN will check you out and direct you to the business which holds your $10 check.

HOOKS NAMES

(Continued from page 1)

at Morgan State University, and will practice law with his son, Michael, in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Mitchell, who has been affectionately called the "God-father" of the 1964 Civil Rights Bill, after an initial career as a newspaper reporter, started his NAACP career as Labor Director, before assuming the post of Washington Bureau Director. He has served on various governmental committees, including the President's Fair Employment Practice Committee, the War Manpower Commission, the War Production Board and the President's Committee to Employ the Physically Handicapped; under the Truman and Eisenhower Administrations.

NEW ACTION

(Continued from page 1)

Brewington, evoked a commitment from the audience to get that health hazard abated.

facilities in the neighborhood for people of all ages. Other concerns expressed by Watson-Hunter Park residents included dangerous intersections, better housing conditions, vacant lots, and rat-infested branches.

SEN. BOND

(Continued from page 1)

He placed political action high on the list of priorities. He urged his audience to aid black business enterprises and placed great emphasis on financial institutions. He was mindful of the fact that if black churches needed money to expand their operations, black lending agencies would certainly look, with favor, on their applications.

BLACK PARENTS'

(Continued from page 1)

board representative, the Cross Link School proposal was included in the new school request package.

Competency testing is another area where the Black Parents' Association is continually involved. Through organizing seminars, held in five different communities, the group sought to prepare students and parents for the test and what it means.

Mr. Thompson stated that, "These are the things (competency test and school sites) that capture the public interest, but do not represent the areas of greatest need. The self-worth of black children is what we must protect. The image that they hold of themselves has the greatest bearing on how children perform. This year, the BPA will be working more in this area through the use of seminars and special activities. We will be increasing parental involvement in supporting the children as they strive to achieve and will continue to watch-dog those activities of the school system that affect black children."

APPRECIATION

(Continued from page 1)

paid for by Jeffries Jewelers, 137 S. Salisbury St.

Two other names were listed, but no one claimed the $10 checks by the noon Monday deadline. They were Ms. Nellie Montgomery, whose name is in Hudson-Bell's ad; and Ms. Eleanor H. Hester, Heilig-Levine Furniture, corner of S. Wilmington and E. Hargett Streets.

Be sure to read THE CAROLINIAN carefully. Then check the back page of the front section for your name. It just might be there.

If so, don't go to the merchant involved, but first come to this office, 518 E. Martin St., identify yourself, and if you are the right person, then THE CAROLINIAN will check you out and direct you to the business which holds your $10 check.

HOOKS NAMES

(Continued from page 1)

at Morgan State University, and will practice law with his son, Michael, in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Mitchell, who has been affectionately called the "God-father" of the 1964 Civil Rights Bill, after an initial career as a newspaper reporter, started his NAACP career as Labor Director, before assuming the post of Washington Bureau Director. He has served on various governmental committees, including the President's Fair Employment Practice Committee, the War Manpower Commission, the War Production Board and the President's Committee to Employ the Physically Handicapped; under the Truman and Eisenhower Administrations.

NEW ACTION

(Continued from page 1)

Brewington, evoked a commitment from the audience to get that health hazard abated.

by the U.S. District Court to overturn the convictions of the Wilmington Ten. This intervention will serve to add considerable support to our legal arguments that crucial evidence was withheld from the jury by rulings of the courts.

SEN. BOND

(Continued from page 1)

He placed political action high on the list of priorities. He urged his audience to aid black business enterprises and placed great emphasis on financial institutions. He was mindful of the fact that if black churches needed money to expand their operations, black lending agencies would certainly look, with favor, on their applications.

BLACK PARENTS'

(Continued from page 1)

board representative, the Cross Link School proposal was included in the new school request package.

Competency testing is another area where the Black Parents' Association is continually involved. Through organizing seminars, held in five different communities, the group sought to prepare students and parents for the test and what it means.

Mr. Thompson stated that, "These are the things (competency test and school sites) that capture the public interest, but do not represent the areas of greatest need. The self-worth of black children is what we must protect. The image that they hold of themselves has the greatest bearing on how children perform. This year, the BPA will be working more in this area through the use of seminars and special activities. We will be increasing parental involvement in supporting the children as they strive to achieve and will continue to watch-dog those activities of the school system that affect black children."

APPRECIATION

(Continued from page 1)

paid for by Jeffries Jewelers, 137 S. Salisbury St.

Two other names were listed, but no one claimed the $10 checks by the noon Monday deadline. They were Ms. Nellie Montgomery, whose name is in Hudson-Bell's ad; and Ms. Eleanor H. Hester, Heilig-Levine Furniture, corner of S. Wilmington and E. Hargett Streets.

Be sure to read THE CAROLINIAN carefully. Then check the back page of the front section for your name. It just might be there.

If so, don't go to the merchant involved, but first come to this office, 518 E. Martin St., identify yourself, and if you are the right person, then THE CAROLINIAN will check you out and direct you to the business which holds your $10 check.

HOOKS NAMES

(Continued from page 1)

at Morgan State University, and will practice law with his son, Michael, in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Mitchell, who has been affectionately called the "God-father" of the 1964 Civil Rights Bill, after an initial career as a newspaper reporter, started his NAACP career as Labor Director, before assuming the post of Washington Bureau Director. He has served on various governmental committees, including the President's Fair Employment Practice Committee, the War Manpower Commission, the War Production Board and the President's Committee to Employ the Physically Handicapped; under the Truman and Eisenhower Administrations.

NEW ACTION

(Continued from page 1)

Brewington, evoked a commitment from the audience to get that health hazard abated.

music with Mrs. Cheryl Caldwell on the organ and Miss Carmen J. Battle at the piano. Responsive reading was taken from I Corinthians 15:51-58, verses entitled, "Victory Over Death." Prayer was given by Sister Hattie Perry.

SEN. BOND

(Continued from page 1)

He placed political action high on the list of priorities. He urged his audience to aid black business enterprises and placed great emphasis on financial institutions. He was mindful of the fact that if black churches needed money to expand their operations, black lending agencies would certainly look, with favor, on their applications.

BLACK PARENTS'

(Continued from page 1)

board representative, the Cross Link School proposal was included in the new school request package.

Competency testing is another area where the Black Parents' Association is continually involved. Through organizing seminars, held in five different communities, the group sought to prepare students and parents for the test and what it means.

Mr. Thompson stated that, "These are the things (competency test and school sites) that capture the public interest, but do not represent the areas of greatest need. The self-worth of black children is what we must protect. The image that they hold of themselves has the greatest bearing on how children perform. This year, the BPA will be working more in this area through the use of seminars and special activities. We will be increasing parental involvement in supporting the children as they strive to achieve and will continue to watch-dog those activities of the school system that affect black children."

APPRECIATION

(Continued from page 1)

paid for by Jeffries Jewelers, 137 S. Salisbury St.

Two other names were listed, but no one claimed the $10 checks by the noon Monday deadline. They were Ms. Nellie Montgomery, whose name is in Hudson-Bell's ad; and Ms. Eleanor H. Hester, Heilig-Levine Furniture, corner of S. Wilmington and E. Hargett Streets.

Be sure to read THE CAROLINIAN carefully. Then check the back page of the front section for your name. It just might be there.

If so, don't go to the merchant involved, but first come to this office, 518 E. Martin St., identify yourself, and if you are the right person, then THE CAROLINIAN will check you out and direct you to the business which holds your $10 check.

HOOKS NAMES

(Continued from page 1)

at Morgan State University, and will practice law with his son, Michael, in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Mitchell, who has been affectionately called the "God-father" of the 1964 Civil Rights Bill, after an initial career as a newspaper reporter, started his NAACP career as Labor Director, before assuming the post of Washington Bureau Director. He has served on various governmental committees, including the President's Fair Employment Practice Committee, the War Manpower Commission, the War Production Board and the President's Committee to Employ the Physically Handicapped; under the Truman and Eisenhower Administrations.

NEW ACTION

(Continued from page 1)

Brewington, evoked a commitment from the audience to get that health hazard abated.

LEAA Awards 12 States Funds

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) has awarded $961,595 to 12 states to plan corrections improvements that would bring them into compliance with American Correctional Association standards.

Funds for the Correctional Standards Accreditation Program (CSAP) will support management teams that will identify shortcomings in each correctional system and recommend how to correct them.

LEAA plans to award additional funds later to carry out the actual improvements in the second phase of the program. "The program also offers a wide range of significant benefits for correctional systems throughout the nation," George H. Bohlinger, an LEAA deputy assistant administrator, said.

"The results of the effort in these first 12 states will be made available to any state seeking to strengthen its corrections program. Eventually, we will establish a plan for supporting corrections standards throughout the United States."

A helpful planning guide on sound money and credit management entitled "The Consumer's Almanac" is available by sending $1 to The Consumer Credit Institute, 1000 Sixteenth Street, N.W., Suite 601, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Everything For BUILDING REMODELING REPAIRING

LUMBER MILLWORK
ATHLETIC PAINTS
BUILDING MATERIALS
RUSSWIN HARDWARE
At Our New Location On
RALEIGH BECLINE

Carolina Builders Corp.
Between U.S. 1 And 64
Ph. 288-7471-Raleigh, N.C.

CHAVIS & LIGON FUNERAL HOME

"Large enough to excel in the field, yet small enough to have patience and understanding. For friends and comfort in times of bereavement..."

Phone: 821-7915

519 S. Blount St.
Raleigh, N.C.
Low Cost Funeral Insurance
Notary Public

Richard H. Pender
Insurance Agent
Miss Mutual Burial Assoc.
Ages 1-75 yrs.
For Complete Details
Call

Miles Mortuary
834-1458
555 New Bern Ave.
Raleigh, N.C.

Five Home Furnishings

Bryan
COMMERCIAL

THE DRAPERY DEN
4518 Old Wake Forest Rd.
Raleigh, N.C.

Personalized Service

We arrange burials, cremations and shipments. Let our counselors help you in your time of need. We adhere strictly to your wishes.

HAYWOOD FUNERAL HOME, INC.
Over a half century of service to Raleigh and Community

Raleigh Mutual Burial Association
LOW COST FUNERAL INSURANCE AVAILABLE
322 E. CABARRUS ST.