New Rules, Role and Jackson

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)-In the ashes of a lost Democratic presiden-tial campaign, Jesse Jackson heads toward the next one strengthened by new rules and a new role.

Next time, Jackson will begin as the Democrat to beat—which is what somebody almost certainly will do. The odds weigh heavily against the nomination of a black man in 1992, in a party that at times shrank from the word "liberal" during the campaign just ended.

Jackson said he doesn't fear that a liberal can't be elected. "Reaching out, making room, that's liberalism. So the liberal tradition is a proud tradition,' he said. "I will not forsake

There surely will be ample com-petition, with Democratic names like son's "Public Enemy No. 1."

But it has really happened. Botha went to Zaire, and was hospitably hosted, dined and wined by Mobutu Sese Seko in the heart of Africa. The event is one of the marvels of this cen-

What prompted Botha to traverse hundreds of miles at great cost in money and time to visit a member of a race which he and his fellow

Afrikaners hate with all their soul, discriminate against and oppress? Surely, there must be a sinister reason for that visit. That sinister reason cannot be too far to seek.

Botha and his racist regime are in jit-ters. World pressure against apartheid is currently at its height. Botha knows this. Sooner or later world op-position to apartheid will demolish

But Botha is aware of the international community's determination to abolish apartheid. He knows that international intervention in South Africa is inevitable. Hence, Botha

(see BOTHA, P. 2)

REV. JESSE JACKSON

BY DANIEL MAROLEN

Oh, what a surprise and shock to learn of the visit of South Africa's

P.W. Bothato Mobutu Sese Seko, the president of the African state of Zaire! Last weekend, Botha took time to visit Mobutu in his posh palace in All black people and justice-loving nations around the world were amazed by Mobutu's hosting of the Champion of Apartheid. Blacks and Afrikaners to whom Botha belongs are sworn foes. Through their system of apartheid, Botha and his Afrikaner rulers have antagonized all black people. Apartheid is a system which discriminates against blacks and refuses them the right to share power and citizenship with their country's Mobutu, a ruler of an independent

African state, host a foe of all black people on earth?" The whole world wonders why a well-known African ruler could flirt with the Champion of Aparthaid. Botha is every black per-comfortable, to say the least.

ays to ennance shareholder value.

war.'

eight years."

Gbadolite City, Zaire.

Afrikaner people.

Botha Aims To Beguile

frikaner people. the evil system of racial segregation Everybody is asking, "How could in South Africa.

Doughboy Rejects

With Franchisers

Burger King Ploys

food chain that has been a drain on its earnings.

was simply a ploy to force PLC to sweeten the offer.

BY CHESTER A. HIGGINS, SR.

Pillsbury Corp.'s Pop 'n' Fresh Doughboy joins black Burger King franchisers in finding the comfort level at Burger King a bit un-

As a result of the Doughboy's angst, Pillsbury, a Minneapolis-based firm, announced that it would dump Burger King, a lackluster

Some cynical Wall Street observers say Pillsbury's last-minute move was just a bid to convince its shareholders that a takeover offer by Grand Metropolitan PLCs of $5.23 billion was not good enough.

Nevertheless, insiders believe that Pillsbury's move is to improve its bottom line and urge shareholders to reject the offer. Pilisbury said the offer was inadequate and that it would continue to explore been losing ground in recent years to No. 1-ranked McDonald's

Corp., which is dwarfing all other competitors in the "hamburger fiercely competitive food market," one analyst said. Financial analysts also said that Burger King, which accounts for about a third of Pillsbury sales and slightly more than two-thirds of its profits, has on Oct. 10, present and two former black Burger King franchisees in the District of Columbia, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Fairfax and Fredericksburg, Va., hit Burger King officials with a $500 million discrimination suit. The class-action suit, filed in U.S. Districtd

Court in Washington, D.C., contends the black owners were charged up to twice as much as whites to purchase the franchises and were

The suit, filed by the Minority Business Enterprise Legal Defense and Education Fund of Washington, on behalf of black franchisees, also charged that Burger King forced some blacks out of business by acting "maliciously, deliberately and anti-competitively in the past

In one instance in 1985, the suit alleges, a black purchased a Burger King in Media, Pa., for $500,000 but later discovered "the purchase price of the store for a white franchise would have been $200,000," less than half. Burger King defended its minority improvement program agreement signed voluntarily in 1963 with Operation

Burger King said the number of black-owned franchises has increased from 77 of its 3,230 total five years ago to 190 of 5,055 in 1888.

tricked into accepting inferior sites for their restaurants.

Burger King, the second-largest U.S. fast-food operation, has

"Burger King must now fend for itself in what has become a

To Save Racist Africa

Whatever the field, the standing Jackson won in 1988 and the rules concessions he gained from Dukakis at the Democratic National Convention will make him more formidable next time. For a while, Republicans tried to bill him as a virtual third partner in the Dukakis-Bentsen ticket. He was a major, nationally televised performer at the Atlanta convention. Jackson is aware of the perils as well as its advantages of his enhanced political situation. He's been talking with friends and advisers about the way to deal with both.

The first step already has been taken. It was a late campaign sprint in behalf of Dukakis. With it, Jackson guarded against any finger-pointing suggesting that he'd done less than his best for the Democratic ticket He said he'd put in more miles, registered more voters than anyone else in support of Dukakis. By elec-tion night his voice was hoarse and fading from the campaign strain as he said it was much too early to talk about 1992 politics. "I have not yet made that decision, not given it serious consideration," he said. That at least is his public Jackson also said the new political season began on Wednesday, Nov. 9, pointing to city elections in 1989, off-year elections in 1990, the Census and (See NEW RULES, P. 2) Angolans Visit U. S. To Show Horrors Of War

SINGLE COPY 25

BY GWEN MCKINNEY NNPA News Service

A delegation of eight Angolansmost of them children without limbs, on crutches or in wheelchairs-arrived in the United States for a mission that will include special medical treatment and people-topeople contacts across the country aimed at exposing the impact of the U.S.-supported war against their country. The show of horrors tour also includes Raleigh and other cities in North Carolina.

Earlier this year 11-year-old Bernardo and her three brothers were leaving for school. Their house was surrounded by members of the South African-backed UNITA rebel group. A volley of shots were fired by the insurgents. When it was all over, the girl's three brothers lay dead and Bernardo, suffering a bullet wound in the back, was left paralyzed from the Last April, 15-year-old Farnado and three friends were playing in an open field. One of them stepped on a landmine. It exploded. All of Fernado's friends were killed. Fernado survived, but his right leg had to be amputated and he bears the deep physical scars of that tragedy. Back in 1981, Iria Gremias and her husband were traveling by car when a bomb from a fighter jet landed on their vehicle. Her husband was killed. Geremias, 49, was left with one foot.

Members of this delegation, like many children in Angola, have been orphaned and abandoned. The toil of the war has also given Angola the world's highest population of amputees.

These are the victims of the war in Angola being waged by UNITA (the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola), a rebel organization backed by South Africa and described by President Reagan as "freedom fighters."

Invited here by the Commission for Racial Justice of the United Church of Christ, the delegation's first stop was at the United Hospital Medical He found that 34.6 percent of Atlanta's blacks were poor in 1980, up from Center of Newark where the amputees received medical 29 percent in 1970. Black families within Atlanta's city limits had an consultation. The city of Newark ing the decade, compared to 147.5 earlier this year adopted the town Biana as a sister city. Rev. Benjamin F. Chavis, CRJ The average annual incomes for 1980 were about $13,700 for blacks in executive director, said the the city and nearly $18,000 among delegation's visit was arranged following a tour by himself and other White income in the city gained black religious leaders.

Chavis called the delegation the about 130 percent, to an annual average of $33,600, while suburban "primary victims of the policy pursued by the Reagan administration," which has provided whites gained about 50 percent, to CIA covert funding to UNITA. Atlanta's big construction projects and other economic growth have created many jobs, but "it certainly does appear that there is a portion of the population that's being left behind, and most of those people are located in the inner city," Sjoquist said.

CIA covert funding to UNITA.

"These people provide living proof," said Chavis, "of who the real victims are, and who is really fighting for freedom in Angola."

The delegation was scheduled to visit Boston, New Haven, New York, Philadelphia, Alabama, Chicago, and Meanwhile, job prospects at the Defreit They are also planning to UNITA.

Detroit. They are also planning to meet in Washington with members Meanwhile, job prospects at the lower end of the wage scale have dimand staff of the Congressional Black

HE CAROLINIAN

RALEIGH, N.C., MONDAY NOVEMBER 21, 1988 NC's Semi-Weekly

DEDICATED TO THE SPIRIT OF JESUS CHRIST

NC Fights AIDS Research

Continues For Cure

Long before AIDS became a national crisis, researchers in North Carolina were unwittingly pursuing paths that would lead the state into the public health spotlight.

Burroughs Wellcome & Co. in Research Triangle Park was in the midst of 30 years of work on antiviral agents-work many other pharmaceutical companies had abandon-ed. Research Triangle Institute was honing skills in epidemiology that would prove invaluable in studying acquired immune deficiency syndrome. Family Health International was at the forefront in studying other sexually transmitted diseases and contraception in developing coun-

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill had an edge as the home of the nation's largest hemophiliac centers. Victims of the blood-clotting disease were found to carry two viruses-HTLV-I and HTLV-II, and one patient was found to have HIV, which turned out to be the AIDS virus. Researchers from UNC and Duke collaborated with Robert Gallo at the National Cancer Institute in one of the 1984 Science magazine articles that described the discovery.

Now, seven years after the first AIDS case was diagnosed in the United States, North Car among the top 10 states in drawing AIDS-related research funding, said Dr. John James, director of the Division of Research Grants at the National Institute of Health.

Researchers at Duke and UNC are now working on a vaccine that weill keep the AIDS virus from binding to cells that promote the body's immune response. UNC scientists are also developing new drugs to treat pneumonia caused by Pneumocystis carinii—the primary cause of death

KEEPING TRACK—Ms. Pauline Banks and Ms. Misty Banks are keeping track as community business people serving the public through courtesy and fine feeds as part of the new spirit of african Americans who are trying to make a go in the competitive business of feed services in the area. (Photo by Wilbert Sanders)

Economic Study Shows

study on "The State of Black percent for suburban blacks.

(See ECONOMIC, P. 2)

suburban blacks.

$26,700.

med.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)-The media Atlantans," a paper that is part of the image of Atlanta as an economic Atlanta Urban League's ongoing boomtown with skyrocketing buildings and salaries is not reflected in the statistics of a new study on rising black poverty. "You've got a declining middleclass black population in the city,"

'The growing concentration of urban poverty is something one expects to find in economically depressed areas, not in the center of a booming

He said middle-class blacks have lower-income blacks have moved in. Sjoquist studied 1970 and 1980 Census figures, as well as later statistics from other sources for "The Economic Status of Black and other economic growth have said Georgia State University 88.4 percent increase in income dureconomics professor David Sjoquist.

Rising Black Poverty

area like Atlanta."

moved outside the city limits while

(see RESEARCH, P. 2) Army Orders Worker To Leave Post After Slur

Utah (AP)-Officials of the Army's black worker.

Dugway Proving Ground have ordered a civilian employee to move off the western Utah installation because his children allegedly made racial slurs against the children of a

DUGWAY PROVING GROUND,

Dugway spokeswoman Kathy Whitaker said the employee has been given 30 days to move, and nine other workers will receive letters warning them that "one more [racial] inci-dent and they'll be asked to leave." Whitaker declined to identify any of the employees, citing privacy law requirements. Whitaker said the employee who is eing ordered off base has seven days to file a response detailing any mitigating circumstances.

"He's still an employee. He no longer has the privilage of living on post," she explained.

The man wasn't fired because "as far as we know he has conducted himself in a non-discriminatory way on the job," she said. "Right now what we have is some kids that are alleged to have said nasty things to Whitaker said the base commander, Col. Jan Van Prooyen, will not tolerate racial discrimination at Dugway and issued a letter to that ef-fect last Friday to everyone living on

The black employee, who has com-plained about the treatment of his children, is safety inspector Larry Parker. His wife, Linda Parker, said the family has suffered racial harass-ment in school and in the community

She said neither the school nor base fficials showed sufficient concern uring most of that time.

Ve just personally feel much (See ARMY, P. 2)