travelers are their bread and butter.

The airline industry must reincarnate the enjoyable experience of flying. Simple things as a tablecloth and restaurant class meals, complete with a glass of wine, are godsend to tired business travelers. I am sure tourists would also appreciate this shift away from mediocre service to world-class service.

Jenkins' high-quality service forced me to open my mind to TWA. I will see if Jenkins is merely an outlier before I start to tell people that I have a top five airlines list.

Just for today—let me remember how often we wish for another chance to make a new beginning, a chance to blot out our mistakes and change failure into winning. It does not take a new year to make a brand-new start. It only takes the deep desire to try with all our hearts to always be forgiving and add a little sunshine to the world in which we're living. There's always tomorrow and a chance to start anew.

CLINTON—Mr. and Mrs., James M. Faison of McKoy Street had for their Easter guests Mr. and Mrs. Waverly Faison and daughter Whitney of Syracuse, N.Y. They also visited other family members. They had Mr. and Mrs. Fred White and daughter Heather from Raleigh as well.

Ms. Christine Pridgen will host the Women's Guild Club on April 30 at Charlie's Restaurant at 4 p.m.

Sgt. Maj. Robert Moultrie of 3615 Cranbrook Drive, Fayetteville, died Tuesday in the VA Hospital. A memorial service was conducted Saturday at 11 a.m. at Division Chapel at Fort Bragg.

Burial was Tuesday, March 28, in Varrancas National Cemetery in Pensacola, Fla.

Surviving are his wife, Pocohontas Moultrie, of the home; his daughter, Ms. Carrie Taylor of Atlanta, Ga.; his mother, Ms. Emma Moultrie of Pensacola, Fla.; two sisters, Patsy Gordon and Eunice Lowe of Pensacola, Fla.; his mother-in-law, Ms. Ida M. Blackwell, of Clinton; and one grandson.

The arrangements were by Brock Memorial and Worley Funeral Home in Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Faison of Bunting Street had for their Easter guests Mr. and Mrs. Martin Faison of Maryland, Jerry Faison of Maryland, Mr. and Mrs. Ruskin Faison of Winston-Salem.

Easter services were very good at First Baptist Church on Easter Sunday.

News was received in Clinton last week of the death of Carter Jones, a former teacher at Sampson High School. Jones was living in Henderson. Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to the family.

Our love and heartfelt sympathy are extended to the Williams family in the loss of their mother. Ms. Jesse Williams died on Monday, March 20, at Sampson Memorial Hospital. The funeral was held on Saturday, March 25.

Ms. Vashta Underwood and her nephew, Jeron Ashley, of Teaneck, N.J., visited Clinton last week. They were visiting their sisters and aunts, Ms. Annie G. Royal and Ms. Leslie Sampson. While here they visited other relatives and friends.

The Rev. Lionel Edmonds, pastor of First Baptist Church, will be rendering Spring Youth Revival at New Christian Chapel Baptist Church, Rose Hill, April 17-21.

Mr. and Mrs. Charm Williams and Ms. Joyce McCain and family spent a weekend in Clinton recently with their mother, Ms. A.M. Johnson.

• In the fighting spirit of Bertha Knox Gilkey, a tenant organizer in St. Louis, Mo. and Winson and Dovie Hudson, the first school desegregation plaintiffs in Leake County, Miss.

• In the vulnerable glance of Toni Morrison, who is not just a great black writer or a great woman writer but a great writer, period. She describes herself as "fighting shy of labels." She has won that fight.

• In the bubbly cheer of Lea Chase, a master chef at a New Orleans restaurant. "You have to put all your love in that pot," she says. "If you're in a hurry, just eat your sandwich and go. Don't even start cooking, because you can't do anything well in a hurry."

• In the proud stance of Rosa Parks, who would not give up her seat on the bus because it was supposed to be for whites only. "I asked the policeman, 'Why do you push us around?'" remembers this silver-haired lady with the will of steel.

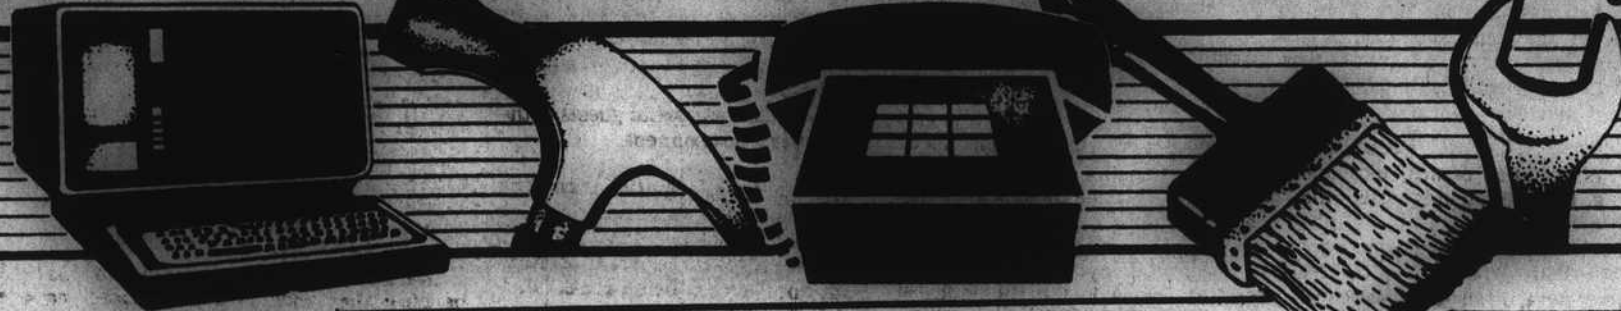

There are many more portraits in this gallery—and our next generation is adding to them every day. To make sure your daughter, granddaughter or niece gets a chance to see this show, call your city's art museum and request it. The show will be touring the country this spring. A book version of the show can be ordered for $23.95 from Corcoran Shop, Corcoran Gallery of Art, 17th Street and New York Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

The highest price quoted for a share of stock was $38,400 for a Swiss drug company in 1974.
