4-H Boys Win National Honors

THREE N. Carolina 4-H'ers were accorded national honors in the 1950 Forestry, Recreation and Rural Arts and Farm Safety programs. They attended the recent 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, where they were commended for their excellent club record.

National winner in the 4-H Forestry Awards program was Shirley Blackburn, 20, of Mountain Park. The American Forest Products Industries, awards donor, provided his trip to the Club Congress, and a $300 college scholarship. Following a demonstration given by the District Forester, Shirley and his brother thinned and improved their pine stands. As a result, neighboring farmers who saw the plot followed suit. Young Blackburn's project in improving timber stands attracted many visitors, and a demonstration based on it won a $20 prize.
National honors in the 4-H Recreation and Rural Arts program went to Robert Parker, 17, of Macclesfield. He has been called on to lead recreation throughout the county. Among his assignments were directing recreation for four home demonstration meetings, 19 4-H meetings and three 4-H camps. Young Williamson, Jr., were visitors and shoppers in Washington Saturday.
Mrs. Mattie Boomer who has been a patient at the Tayloe Hospital in Washington has returned home.
Mrs. D. L. Berry, and Mrs. Roland Early and son, Vaughn, motored to Washington Tuesday.
Mrs. W. H. Langston had as her dinner guests Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Berry, Rev. and Mrs. D. M. Lewis.
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sawyer who have been living in Swan Quarter for quite a while have moved back to Ponzer.
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cahoon motored as far as Washington with Wahab Cahoon Monday on his way to Chapel Hill.
Mrs. Fred Harris left Saturday for Norfolk where she will be with her daughter for several days.

LIBRARY NOTES

According to the New York Times Book Review section, books of non-fiction are topping fiction lists by considerable margin both in numbers and in quality and reader appeal. As our library has a large non-fiction section this news has been welcome. It shows we have been growing in the right direction in keeping up with the best of non-fiction. These books are the more lasting, too. Last year's best seller novel is apt to be very dead indeed unless a moving picture is made from it, when it flares again into popularity.
Among the non-fiction best sellers we have are: "Kon Tiki," Heyerdahl; "The Hinge of Fate," the fourth volume of Churchill's memoirs; "The Mature Mind," Overstreet; "Belles On Their Toes," Gilbreth, and many others. Outstanding among the successes of the year is "Kon Tiki," the thrilling story of a group of men who set sail from South America across the Pacific on a raft of balsa wood with a sail, just to prove their contention that the Pacific Islands were settled by people from South America who had reached there by a similar voyage. The modern expedition also reached its goal proving that the theory is at least tenable.
The Library has several cut-out villages ready to set up, Mexican, Chinese, Russian, Dutch, Esquimaux, and Pilgrim. They consist of houses, trees, bridges, lakes, a number of people, characteristically employed and dressed in appropriate costumes, and the domestic animals. Elementary teachers have found these useful and any elementary teacher who wants to borrow one of them may do so. Inquire at the library or the Beckmable librarian. If more are needed we will buy more.
The lobby display next week will be from the large biographical section.
Taking a chance on the basketball court may mean an extra goal for your favorite team, BUT, says the Department of Motor Vehicles, taking a chance on the highway may mean death for you or your family!

ENGELHARD PERSONALS

Mrs. Gilbert Tillett of Wanchese is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Spencer. Mr. Tillett returned home on Sunday after a short visit with the Spencers.
Mr. and Mrs. George Williams have returned to their home in Goldsboro after spending a few days with Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Swindell.
Mrs. E. D. Stowe is spending sometime in Washington with relatives.
Mrs. C. E. Cahoon and children Ricky and Elizabeth are visiting relatives here.
Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brittain have returned from Norfolk where they spent part of last week.
Rev. and Mrs. Oscar Edmonds and little daughter, Elaine, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Spencer and family on Sunday evening last.
E. L. Kelly, USN, Norfolk, spent the weekend with Mrs. Kelly and family.
Homemakers' Meeting
The Engelhard home demonstration club held its monthly meeting at the club room in the community building on Thursday night. The ladies invited their husbands and other guests to a 6 o'clock dinner. The tables were made attractive with white linen cloths and loaded with good eats.
Miss Carawan, home agent, and Mr. Pruden, county agent, gave a demonstration on home improvement, using slides showing homes before and after improvements had been made inside and out.
The entire program was very interesting and informative both to the club women and their guests. The night meeting for the reading group will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 16, at the home of Mrs. Max Mann.
Miss Carawan reported at the last meeting that not only did the Engelhard club read more books than any other club in Hyde county, but also in the district of 5 counties in which Hyde is included.
Speed is essential on the basketball court if your favorite team is to win the game, BUT, on the highways, adds the Department of Motor Vehicles, speed is the principal cause for loss of life!

Here's the POWER!

VEPCO is ready to accept whatever demands may come with the National Defense Program.
Years of planning and building by this business-managed company are behind our readiness to serve. Already, VEPCO's output of power exceeds the forecast for 1960's demands - 10 years ahead of time. The electric industry as a whole has increased electric generating capacity since World War II by 35%.
There is no power shortage in America today, nor in VEPCO territory. And we pledge our every resource to meet the future needs of our national economy and to preserve our national security.
