FEDERAL AID TO STATES

During the seven-year period ending June 30, 1951, the State of North Carolina received from the Federal Government aid in the amount of more than a billion and a quarter dollars. This did not represent federal payrolls, buying of goods, services and interests. This $1,246,700,037 was paid to individuals and to state and local governments in connection with Federal programs.

Almost half of this vast sum was paid since World War II. It poses the question: "Now that the states have become used to Federal handouts, will they give them up?" In the post World War II years, 1947-51, the state total was $615,465,886. The bulk of the remainder was paid in the "depression and prewar period," the total of this 1934-42 period being $419,974,327 for the state. And in the "emergency war period"—1942-46—the state's total was $211,259,824.

Biggest single item among the federal payments to the state and its residents over the entire 18-year period was the $372,198,251 for Veterans Administration's readjustment benefits and vocational rehabilitation. Other major items were the total of $186,291,430 for the agricultural conservation program; the $48,967,539 for Old Age Assistance; the $29,724,312 in payments to the State under the Social Security Act; and the $32,128,187 from the Public Roads Administration for highways.

CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE DARE COUNTY

I am a candidate for Representative of Dare County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary. I want to be a candidate of the people in every sense of the word and I solicit your vote and support on that basis. My desire is to represent Dare as I did in 1949 keeping in mind the whole of Dare County and the best interests of all the people.

I thank you for your past vote and support, and respectfully solicit your consideration. Within the coming weeks I hope to visit you and discuss the issue more completely.

Sincerely yours,

DEWEY L. HAYMAN

It Takes All Kinds

By DAVE WEST

Add proofs that inflation cheapens everything: the Hicks Academy of Beauty Culture in Norfolk advertises itself as being the former Duke's Academy of Beauty Culture.

Been hearing things? Maybe you're hearing stars — Well, here's a thing that made us rub our eyes when we read it last week: "Like a star in heaven in the broad daylight, you are not seen, but yet you are heard." (Maybe we should have rubbed our ears?)

You know how ponderously humorless most news commentators are. In case you've concluded that the whole lot of 'em are ghouls, try listening to Edward R. Murrow for a refreshing change. The analysis he made of political speeches for his program on Washington's birthday was as full of wit as his fellow commentators are of wind. . . Murrow has another asset as attractive as his fine speaking voice: he doesn't pretend to be omnipotent, in which humble pose he is unique among commentators. This can hardly be true, of course, really, we don't think the fellow has an axe to grind.

The postman always rings twice? That's impatience compared to the reiterated knocking of the equinox at the Outer Banks. We used to think an equinoctial gale was a thing that paid SOME attention, at least, to the 21st of September and 21st of March. The equinox knocks that reverberated down here through the whole month of November last year, and those that began thumping at the Banks two weeks ago, a full month early, have caused us to revise our opinion. On Cape Hatteras Island, we now believe, an equinoctial gale is one which comes between periods of fine weather at the beginning, middle or end or any month, and is characterized by day after day of cold, blowing rain, skies full of scudding clouds and the oddest grayest, most funereal, filtered-out sunlight imaginable. And what's the oddest thing of all about these ought-to-be gloomy gales? They're stimulating. Don't ask why. They're stimulating, that's all. It's something more than just having the knowledge that it's going to be so fine when the gale blows over. What it is, we can't fathom. But it's as real as the gales themselves and just as

HATTERAS YOUTH CLUB ORGANIZED

Under the auspices of the PTA, the Hatteras young people met in the school club rooms on Feb. 21st, discussed plans and elected officers for a recreational organization to be known as the Hatteras Youth Club.

The Adult Committee, to act as advisors, were: Mrs. Horton Austin, Miss Maggie Bridgman, Mrs. Monroe Stowe, Mrs. Errol Foster, Mrs. Byron Byrd and Mrs. Maurice Burrus.

President, Joey Fagley; Vice-President, Mitzie Oden; Sec.-Treas., Roberta Byrd; Chaperone Committee, Sonia Oden, Kenneth Willis and Winona Peele; Devotional Program, Minnie Gillikin Canteen, L. B. Fulcher, Jr., Geraldine Fulcher, Lida Stowe; Equipment, Desmond Foster.

Clean-up committee (to change every month) Sara Burrus, Roberta Byrd and Grady Austin. For the time being, it was decided to meet every Thursday night, from 7:30 to 10:00, with four chaperones, in addition to the Games Chairman, Mrs. Monroe Stowe. Rules were agreed upon and general plans made to acquire equipment.

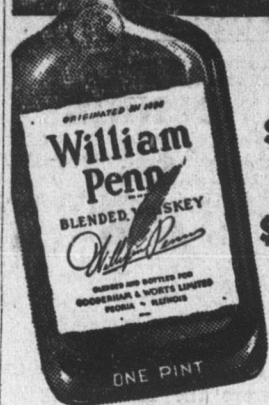

The first regular meeting was held on Feb. 28, with sixteen members and several visitors present.

Until further notice, the group of young people, from twelve years on up, will meet every Thursday, and plans are under way to have socials on Friday nights for the younger children.

Now poor little Harry has been called EVERYTHING. The Virginian-Pilot's three-decker headline on page one of its February 29 issue read: GEORGIA'S RUSSELL MAKES BID FOR DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION; TRUMAN TO STAY QUIET MOUTH. If it may be printed about a president, it will surely not be seditious to hope publicly that the history books will describe some group of legislators as "The Quiet Mouth Congress." (When the Styx freezes over!)

On afternoons-in-the-quiet-of-their-homes it is easy for fathers to feel like pieces of unprotected furniture, or even like topographical points. We felt as San Juan Hill must have felt in '98 last Saturday afternoon. Our eyes were startled off the page of our book when a small Teddy Roosevelt yelled the infantile equivalent of "Charge!" on the other side of the room. Swiftly as our eyes lifted, they were not quick enough to enable us to avoid having our foot ground over by a wildly careening tricycle vanguard and a stroller-equipped heavy cavalry, nor to prevent the hurtling horde from crunching up the incline of our body and on over a body as incapable of resistance as gloriously trampled San Juan Hill itself. (Like the hill, we're still round; but keen eyes can discern that we aren't as we were originally.)
