O. B. HAYES RESIGNS AS CEDAR WORKS PRESID'NT

Long Active Head of Richmond Cedar Works Leaves Company; Active in Timber Business

Of much interest in the counties of Tyrrell and Dare, where the Richmond Cedar Works has large timber interest is news of the resignation of President O. B. Hayes who is well and favorably known in this section.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of Richmond Cedar Works held in Richmond on Saturday, May 3, 1952, Mr. Hayes tendered his resignation as President and Director of the company and of all its subsidiaries and affiliated companies, which resignation was accepted and became effective immediately.

Mr. Hayes' experience over the past 39 years has covered practically all phases of lumber manufacturing and sales. For many years he acted as General Sales Manager for the company, and since May 1947 had served as President and General Manager of Richmond Cedar Works. He is widely and favorably known in the lumber industry and during his long experience has made many friends throughout the eastern half of the United States. He is Director of the following trade associations: Southern Pine Association, New Orleans, Louisiana, National Hardwood Lumber Association, Chicago, Illinois, and Southern Hardwood Producers, Memphis, Tennessee, as well as Virginia Chairman of the Southern Pine Industry Committee.

95-YEAR-OLD MARTIN CO. NEGRO FISHERMAN

W. F. Powers Takes Ten-Cats Before Breakfast Fishing at Belhaven

William Preston Powers, who was 95 years old on Jan. 1, last, resident of RFD 3, Williamston, but a frequent visitor of his oldest daughter, Frances Collins, 58, gets as much fun out of his fishing as any other of the visitors seeking sport in this section.

Tuesday morning at breakfast time he was seen going up Pamlico Street, Belhaven, with a string of ten catfish weighing a total of 12 pounds or more. This old colored man with his catfish and cane pole walked with springy step. He was going to have a big catfish stew, he said. "I am the king fisherman of Belhaven, and the oldest coon in Martin County," he proclaimed.

The old man said he was born a slave on the plantation of a doctor who owned 1,000 slaves and was the richest man in Edgemore County. He says he and his wife were blessed with 17 children, that during the past war, 37 of his children and their offspring served in the armed forces and none of them got a cratch.

He lives with a daughter, Mary Jane Newsom near Everetts in Martin County, and with his daughter in Belhaven, Frances Collins of Bay St.

LADESVILLE RURITAN HEARS FARM AGENT

Hyde County Farm Agent Earlopping spoke to the members of the Ruritan club at their meeting Monday night, May 5, in the lunch room of the school building. The speaker of the evening was presented by President Gilbert Richards. Oscar Berry and Harold Spencer were in charge of the program. The ladies of the P. T. A. served a delicious barbecue dinner. During the business session the club members voted to join in helping to build a church being erected at Fortescue's Creek by donating labor, and cash.

Visitors included Lindsay Wood of Big Swamp club.

Vandals Destroy Citrus Trees on Home of Couple Living at Cape Hatteras

By BEN DIXON MacNEIL
Buxton on Cape Hatteras, May 15. — Drenching the roots with kerosene oil, vandals have destroyed more than half the twelve citrus fruit trees that were the pride of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. (Fate) Midgett, killing them beyond any hope of reclamation just when they were coming into full flower and their first year of fruiting.

Included among the dead trees is the handsome kumquat from the lot of citrus fruits distributed two years ago by the State Department of Conservation and Development, which bore about 40 fruit last year and which was carrying an estimated 1,000 blossoms when it was killed off last week. Other trees killed included both orange and grapefruit which the Midgetts had bought themselves or their son had sent them.

Escaping so far as an orange and a grapefruit tree issued this year at the insistence of Fred P. Latham, member of the Board of Conservation, who has been the most active advocate of the citrus project on Cape Hatteras. These trees were set apart from the others and in full view of the highway which passes in front of the house. The others were planted in a more protected area at the rear of the house.

Although Mr. Midgett had noted the sudden withering of the trees a day or two earlier the actual cause of their dying was not noted until Mrs. Midgett returned from a visit to her son in Atlanta and other relatives in Florida. Mr. Midgett, an ardent surf-caster and energetic net fisherman had been away from the house during most of daylight but watered the trees daily especially after the largest of them began to wilt.

Finding her treasured trees in ruins when she came home, Mrs. Midgett excavated around the roots in search of the cause and her hands came away oily. Apparently as much as a gallon of oil had been poured around the roots of some of them, and others had been drenched completely. Heroic measures were invoked, including the removal of all earth from the roots, washing with a strong detergent and with new earth placed in the excavation.

Householders throughout the community are shocked and indignant and since the killing of the Midgett trees, have been vigilant to the point of oiling shotguns. "If I'd seen him I'd have shot him," Mr. Midgett declares. "I'd maybe have tried to hit him in the leg—but I'd have been sure, first, that I hit him somewhere."

Blooming has this week passed the peak for about 500 of the 750 citrus fruit trees in the village. A majority of the trees distributed here on February 23 of this year, the second issue by the Department of Conservation, are now in the blooming state, though not many of them will be allowed to retain their fruit this year, since cultural instructions are against it. Those set two years ago are generally productive, with about 85 per cent of them surviving. The rest of the trees in the village are either seedlings or budded nursery stock bought by enthusiastic householders.

No report of the outrage has been made to law enforcement agencies, both the Midgetts and others feeling that "If I find out who it was, I'll take care of it myself." Insofar as is known suspicion has pointed at no individual.

SURFSIDE RESTAURANT NOW MANAGED BY PAULOS

The Surfside Restaurant at Nags Head is opening this week end, and is managed by Nick Paulos, who for years operated the Cozy Grille in Elizabeth City, located at the corner of Colonial Avenue and McMorris St.

Paulos opened the Cozy Grille in Elizabeth City in 1924, and operated it successfully, but recently leased it in order to move to the beach. He brought his family along with him, and they have been busy getting the place ready to open for the past few weeks.

NO REBEKAH MEETING MON.

There will be no regular meeting of the Manteo Rebekah Lodge Monday night, as the Rebekah State Assembly will be in session in Elizabeth City from Sunday through Wednesday of next week. Mrs. Lois Midgett, Noble Grand, requests all Rebekah members to attend as many sessions as possible at the State meeting.

HYDE STUDENTS STUDY COOPERATIVE LEARNING

A demonstration in cooperative learning was jointly held between East Carolina College training school, Greenville, and Swan Quarter School, Swan Quarter, during the afternoon of May 8, 1952.

Teaching and classroom techniques were demonstrated during actual classes by master teachers of the college, covering grades one to eight. Conferences were held in each classroom between master teachers and observing teachers. A social hour followed in the auditorium where summaries of classroom observations were aired.

The value of the plan for cooperative learning to regular teachers, student teachers, and pupils was discussed at large, following which a panel for general discussion was set up. Dr. Keith D. Holmes presiding as chairman.

Everett Miller, administrative assistant superintendent of public instruction, addressed the group concerning critical evaluation and projection for the future of the See STUDENTS, Page Five

CIVIL DEFENSE PROGRAM IN MANTEO MAY 19

A program designed to train community leaders in defense measures will be put on in Manteo on Monday, April 19, under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Kirby, Dare County Home Demonstration agent; and J. M. Vannote, the county's Civil Defense chairman.

Mrs. Sarah Boyd Weaver, Deputy Director of Public Affairs and Director of Women's Work for the North Carolina Council of Civil Defense, will present the North Carolina Civil Defense picture to Home Demonstration and civic leaders of Dare County at Manteo School auditorium at 8:00 p. m., May 19.

Mrs. Weaver, at the request of Mrs. Verona Langford, District Agent, is speaking to four counties in the eastern district this week. Local county authorities, Civil Defense personnel and all interested persons are being invited to attend.

A report on North Carolina Civil Defense, the necessity for the program in this state, how it works and the role rural women will be called upon to play will be pointed out in the program. Two training films, "Duck and Cover" and "Survival Under Atomic Attack" will be shown.

Mrs. Weaver has been with the North Carolina Civil Defense Program since last August. Prior to that she spent six months in Florida as Public Affairs Director for Florida Civil Defense. She has attended Civil Defense Training Schools in Washington and is well-qualified to direct women's participation in the training program. She has recently completed a trip through the state as luncheon speaker at the twelve United Daughters of the Confederacy District meetings.

MANTEO EIGHTH GRADE GIVES ORIGINAL PLAYS

A group of five original plays was presented by Miss Esther Wynne's eighth grade students Tuesday afternoon at the May meeting of the Manteo Parent Teacher Association. Written, costumed and staged by the students, under Miss Wynne's supervision, the three historical and two modern one-act plays received warm applause from the audience.

Mrs. Raymond Wescott was installed as president for another year. Other officers installed were Mrs. H. K. Tugwell, vice-president; Mrs. Roy Davis, Jr., secretary; and Lloyd Finch, treasurer. The officers were presented by Mrs. Edna Bell to Mrs. Lawrence Swain, district president, who conducted the installation ceremonies.

Mrs. H. K. Tugwell was elected to represent the Manteo group at the P. T. A. workshop in Chapel Hill in August. A delegate to the P. T. A. Institute in Greensboro on June 23 is yet to be selected.

FLOWER AND DOLL SHOW SCHEDULED FOR JUNE 5

Roanoke Island Garden Club Invites Everyone to Participate; Need Not Be Club Member to Display Flowers or Dolls

The Roanoke Island Garden Club announces June 5th, from 2:30 to 9:30 p. m. at the Dare Community Center as the time and place for their spring Flower and Doll Show.

They hope to make the event a community wide affair and are inviting flower lovers and doll collectors, young and old, to make contributions to the show. In spite of the discouragement of a dry April which did not bring spring flowers, the club hopes for growing loveliness to be brought from Wanchese, from Manteo, from North End and the homes on the by-roads and waterfronts. There are to be flower arrangements brought and labeled by the contributors, loose flowers for arrangements on location, and unusual or exotic potted plants exhibited.

The Doll Show will have two classifications. One of dolls, forty or more years old, antique dolls. Another of character or unique dolls of any period. The owners of the dolls are to prepare them for the show, labeling them with dolls' names, the ownership, and a brief story connected with the doll.

The general chairman for the show is Mrs. A. Q. Bell, of Roanoke Gardens. For the doll division of the show and general arrangements for the event the committee is Mrs. O. J. Jones, Mrs. A. H. Ward, Mrs. Leigh D. Hassell. For collecting and placing of flower arrangements, the committee is Mrs. M. Keith Fearing, Mrs. Gordon Kellogg, Mrs. Lucetta Willis.

During the early afternoon of the show the Garden Club, as hostesses, will serve refreshments and for the entire event a silver offering will be taken to defray expenses.

WANCHESE MAN HAS CLAIM TO BIGGEST HEN EGG

When John Toler moved to Wanchese from his old home at Skyeo some weeks ago his hens must have found what they were hoping for. Anyway, John thinks so, for the size of the eggs have been improving, until this week the largest egg received from his hens was four inches long, had a double yolk, was six and a quarter inches in circumference.

John says he enjoys living at Wanchese because he has nice neighbors. He plans to build a new home in that community.

FRANCES McPHERSON DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Frances Cooper McPherson, 75, daughter of the late Alexander and Louisa Cooper of Roanoke Island, widow of John W. McPherson, late negro minister, died Monday a. m., after a long illness. She will be remembered by many as one of the people who worked for the Lost Colony for years, looking after little children who were left in her care while parents attended the show.

She is survived by three sisters, Alena Cooper, Adeline Alexander, and Edna McCleese of Manteo; one brother, Dennis Cooper of Kinston, N. C. Her funeral was conducted Wednesday at 2 o'clock by Rev. Lawrence of Elizabeth City and burial was in the colored cemetery of the Havens Creek Baptist Church.

COMMENCEMENT PLANS FOR MANTEO SCHOOL

Plans are about complete for the commencement exercises of the Manteo High School. The graduating exercises will take place May 30th. The commencement sermon will be delivered by Rev. C. W. Guthrie of the Wanchese Methodist Church at the school auditorium Sunday, May 25th.

Class Day exercises will be held Thursday, May 29. Miss Holland Westcott will present her piano class in recital on Tuesday, May 20. All exercises will begin at eight o'clock in the evening.

AUXILIARY PLANS POPPY SALE DAY FOR HYDE COUNTY

Unit 211 American Legion Auxiliary Busy With Plans For Saturday, May 24

Money donations given in exchange for the memorial poppies to be worn on Saturday, May 24 in honor of the war dead, will bring their full value of help to disabled veterans and needy children of veterans during the coming year, said Mrs. Egbert McKinney, poppy chairman of Hyde County Unit 211 of A. L. A. of Engelhard, as the unit continued preparations for the annual Poppy Day observance.

All contributions on Poppy Day will be used for Rehabilitation Program for disabled veterans and families. All the workers on May 24 will be unpaid volunteers who gladly give their time. The poppies to be used in Hyde County have been made by the veterans at Fayetteville Veteran Hospital and purchased by the Hyde County A. L. A. unit so each veteran could be paid for his work. Doctors in veteran hospitals consider poppy-making a valuable form of occupational therapy because the psychological effect of having work to do and being paid for it, rebuilds patient's pride and self-respect. These wages, paid by the American Legion Auxiliary in all veteran hospitals amount to about one-half million dollars this year.

Mrs. McKinney, poppy chairman, said she has completed plans to have poppies in the different sections of Hyde available for every one. Unit members will work in Lake Landing and Engelhard area. In Sladesville, Fairfield, Swan Quarter and New Holland areas non-unit members are graciously donating their time.
