Corn Bread Stuffing—Traditional As Thanksgiving!

Try Corn Bread Stuffing this year in the roast chicken or Thanksgiving turkey and you'll be serving your family food that's truly traditional. Cooking with corn meal is one of America's oldest customs. At Thanksgiving time, more than any other season of the year, we are mindful of our country's early settlers. Their struggles were legion, with survival depending in large measure on their food supply. While the men went in search of bird, game and fish, the early homemaker concerned herself with the precious corn friendly Indians had taught them to live by. Today, it is an easy matter to select a fine turkey or roasting chicken at the local market and to mix up a batch of corn bread for stuffing the bird. Corn meal still is a staple food in the American kitchen, and today, as yesterday, good cooks herald corn bread stuffing as more than a tradition. They like its texture, its taste, and its resistance to soggness.

Your Thanksgiving bird will be "well-dressed" with its corn bread stuffing.

Roast Chicken with Corn Bread Stuffing: 1/4 cup chopped onion, 3/4 cup bacon fat or melted butter, 6 cups stale corn bread, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 3/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, well-beaten, 3 to 4 1/2 lb. young chicken, ready-to-cook weight, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Brown onion in fat. Crumble corn bread coarsely and combine with remaining dry ingredients. Add egg, fat, and onion. Toss together until well mixed. Season cavity of chicken with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stuff chicken, skewer, brush skin with melted fat, and place on a rack, breast down, in open roasting pan. Roast at low temperature (325°F.) 3 to 3 1/2 hours. Turn breast up after 2 1/2 hours of roasting. Baste occasionally with melted fat. Yield: 6 servings.

and Mrs. Garrish also visited Mrs. A. F. Taylor, Mr. Garish's aunt of Raleigh, North Carolina.

SWAN QUARTER SENIORS IN "HERE COMES CHARLIE"

The Senior class of Swan Quarter presented the play "Here Comes Charlie" Friday evening November 2.

"Here Comes Charlie" a farce comedy in three acts was well presented. Larry Elliott, a young broker, played by Lavous Austin, who thought he was becoming the guardian of a small boy, was quite astounded when he found that he had taken a girl to raise, seventeen and pretty, Charlotte, played by Odessa Williams is called Charlie, hence the error. Why the confusion Larry being engaged to the impetuous Vivian Smith-Kersey Jane Midyette, and henridden by a snobbish aunt, Ella Lou Cahoon, felt that it was time for him to clear the situation—all ended happily.

Others taking part were Uncle Aleck Twigg, Roy Garrish; Merlin Berry, Larry's old college pal; Christine Hudson, the Irish cook; Wayne McKinney, the policeman; Kay Bell, mother of Vivian Smythe — Kersey and Mortimer Smythe-Kersey played by Pratt Williamson, Jr.

Special music between acts was furnished by Gene Austin Swindell accompanied by Mrs. R. G. Baum.

Where was Joe when the Turkey was carved? ON THANKSGIVING, when traditionally the "head of the house" carves succulent slices off the all-American bird... somebody else, maybe Mama or Grandpa, does the honors for Joe. Joe's job, you see, must be done... holiday or not, night or day, fair weather or foul. He may be a turbine operator, a control panel man, a load dispatcher, a trouble-shooter... any one of the many VEPCOVIANS who keep the serve in your electric service, around the clock, around the calendar. By the time your turkey is just a shadow of its former self, Joe will be just sitting down to his... warmed over, cold-sliced, or hash. But because he's a nice guy, perhaps a friend or neighbor of yours... he says: "Happy Thanksgiving!" VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER COMPANY
