

WIVES AND WIDOWS OF GOVERNORS TO ATTEND CLAMBAKE

An Unusual Event Wednesday of Next Week in Raleigh To Boost North Carolina Seafood

Gov. and Mrs. Luther Hodges will be honor guests at an unusual type of clam bake in Raleigh Wednesday night, March 16, in a move designed to boost the consumption of clams as well as other seafoods produced in Eastern North Carolina waters.

The unique clam bake is being sponsored jointly by the Department of Conservation and Development and the North Carolina Association of Quality Restaurants in cooperation with Elmer Willis of Williston and other members of the clam industry along the North Carolina coast.

The dinner, an all-clam affair except for such "trimmings" as hush-puppies, onion rings, biscuits, coffee and tea, will be held in the Capitol Room of the S&W Cafeteria and will start at 6:30 p.m.

To be invited to the dinner, in addition to Gov. Hodges, are members of the State's General Assembly, elective and appointive State officials, the board of the N. C. Association of Quality Restaurants, members of the State Board of Conservation and Development, representatives of industrial development organizations of a number of Chambers of Commerce in North Carolina, former Gov. and Mrs. R. Gregg Cherry of Gastonia, former Gov. and now Senator W. Kerr Scott and Mrs. Scott, Haw River, Mrs. O. Max Gardner, Shelby, Mrs. J. M. Broughton, Raleigh, Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Edenton, Mrs. William B. Umstead, Durham, Mrs. W. W. Kitchin, Scotland Neck, and members of press, radio and television.

Willis, president of Willis Brothers, Williston, widely known clam processors, is contributing the clams for the dinner as well as all the clam juice that will be needed for appetizers. Members of the North Carolina Assn. of Quality Restaurants will contribute necessary help and other items needed for the dinner.

Members of the committee on arrangements for the dinner are: M. M. Melvin and Wade Lucas, Raleigh, co-chairmen, John Lineberger, Raleigh, Willis, Cecil Morris, Atlantic, J. Harvey Rape (cq) Durham, W. Eugene Simmons, Tarboro, Ben E. Douglas, Raleigh, Gehrmann Holland, Morehead City, Lockwood Phillips, Morehead City, and Eric W. Rodgers, Scotland Neck and Raleigh.

INADEQUATE LIME

Soils authorities are becoming more concerned with the failure of farmers to lime their soils adequately. Experiments show that every dollar spent for lime returns a profit of three to seven dollars to the farmer. A profit of 300 to 700 percent is not only good but almost unbelievable and any good businessman, or woman, would welcome the opportunity to get such a return on his investment. While liming is profitable, only 20 million tons were applied in 1953 as compared to an annual need of 80 million tons. Why should the general public be concerned? It's simply this. Limestone is calcium and magnesium in carbonate form. While benefiting the farmer in higher yields, it also produces more nutritious food and fibre containing more calcium, magnesium and other elements.

NEW GUIDE ISSUED TO NORTH CAROLINA

A new guide to North Carolina is scheduled for publication in April by the University of North Carolina Press at Chapel Hill.

The new book, with 640 pages, 16 maps and many illustrations, presents a current and comprehensive picture of the leading industrial state in the Southeast and one of the South's most visited vacationlands.

It is the first complete North Carolina guide book since publication in 1937 of "North Carolina, A Guide to the Old North State", which was one of the outstanding volumes in the American Guide Series.

This new guide follows the pattern of the old in presenting information both in terms of individual cities and in terms of road tours, of which there are 24. The tours are designed to fit the present expanded road network of the state and to serve both the out-of-state traveller going through the state and the North Carolinian visiting new sections of his own state.

The most outwardly spectacular recent development in the State, as revealed in the 1955 Guide, is the tremendous increase in North Carolina's recreational facilities—from the continued development of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and the Blue Ridge Parkway, through the various new state parks and the winter resorts of the Sandhills to new coastal playgrounds on the banks and beaches. Along with this has come an enlivened sense of North Carolina's history, best exemplified in such major restoration projects as Tryon's Palace and Old Salem. And within the widening horizons in all sections of the state are new and expanded industries, modern functional buildings, new residential and business areas, schools, and hospitals.

The introductory section features a brief history of the State

When you talk to any truck salesman —

Make him open the hood!

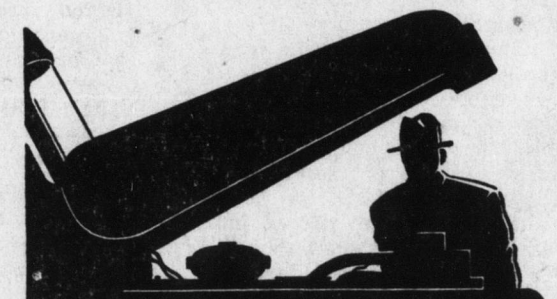

Don't be talked out of a modern short-stroke engine in your new truck. Short-stroke design prolongs piston ring life up to 53%. Your engine lasts longer! You save up to one gallon of gas in seven! Other truck makers have started to adopt short-stroke engines. But ONLY FORD offers four short-stroke V-8's — plus a short-stroke Six — available right now!

Biggest payload capacity in the "1/2-ton" field! New Ford F-100 6 1/2-ft. Pickup, GVW 5,000 lbs.

How can you tell if it's a short-stroke engine? The "stroke" is always as short as, or shorter than the "bore." Check the specifications! Get the facts!

Some other makers offer short-stroke V-8 engines in some size trucks. Following Ford's lead, the big trend in truck engines is to modern short-stroke V-8's!

But ONLY FORD offers V-8 power for every size truck in a full line. Four modern short-stroke V-8's, up to 170 h.p.! Plus the industry's most modern short-stroke Six!

Modern short-stroke V-8's are beginning to revolutionize the truck industry—just as they've already done in the passenger-car field. Today, virtually every passenger car offers short-stroke V-8 power. Before too long, the same will be true of trucks. If you now buy a truck with a long-stroke Six, what will happen to its ultimate trade-in value? Follow the lead of other informed buyers—go modern—go short-stroke NOW!
