Capt Will Willis came home from Morehead City with Sigma, and with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willis and son living at Ocracoke, the family is all at home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald O'Neal and child of Wilmington, N. C. spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Hubert O'Neal and family.

Mrs. T. W. Howard arrived last week end from Tucson, Arizona. En route home by bus she made several stops and visits with friends and relatives before reaching Ocracoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Ballance, Sr. have had with them their son, Elisha, Jr. and grandson of Portsmouth, Va. Elisha, Jr. is serving in the U. S. Coast Guard on the cutter Ingram.

Mrs. John T. O'Neal and children are visiting her parents in Windsor. We are glad to learn that the baby, John Thomas, Jr., is getting along all right following a minor operation.

Mrs. Molly Bragg's son, Fred A. Hogarth, of Norfolk, is visiting her.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Brooks have moved into the north apartment of the Lighthouse residence. Mr. Brooks is our Ocracoke Ranger for the Cape Hatteras National Seashore Park.

Word has been brought that Steve Styron, who was flown to Sea Level Hospital last week, is getting along all right. His sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Meyers, accompanied him to Sea Level.

Harry F. O'Neal and Edward Parsons are at home from Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Boos and son, Warwick, spent several days in Norfolk recently.

Kathleen and Maltby Bragg went to Beaufort recently. Maltby was the first to get an airplane trip from Beaufort to Ocracoke in Earl Taylor's new plane.

Leonard Bryant has been ill off and on recently, but is better at

WASHINGTON REPORT

By BILL WHITLEY

LOBBYISTS. How do you feel about the development of the Antarctic Continent? If you have any views on the subject, a certain lady in Washington, Miss Elizabeth Kendall, would like to know about them. She is one of some 700 lobbyists currently registered with Congress. Like Miss Kendall, all of the lobbyists have special projects they are working on.

Hundreds of organizations retain agents in Washington the year around to bring influences to play on members of Congress. Many of these groups maintain big offices with large staffs of experts.

LEADERS. There are several lobbying groups that are masters when it comes to influencing lawmakers. They leave no stone unturned in letting Congressmen know exactly what they want. In many cases they provide very helpful and essential information on pending legislation.

Probably the richest of all lobbying groups is the National Association of Manufacturers, which plays effective roles in influencing legislation on taxes and other important economic issues. Another wealthy and effective group that works along the same lines as N.A.M. is the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, a group that swings a big stick when it comes to influence.

OPPONENTS. In many legislative cases.

Carleton Kelly spent the week end in Norfolk.

Dallas Williams from Norfolk, and Larry Simpson from Elizabeth City were home last week end.

Word has been received that Maurice Ballance, U. S. Army, has been transferred from Camp Devon, Massachusetts, to Camp Eustis, Va. Mrs. Ballance plans to visit him there soon.

Rev. W. R. Hale has announced that he will hold a special Sunrise Service, 5:30 p.m. on Easter Sunday, on the dune nearest the Ocean Beach, out in front of the village.

Members of the Ocracoke School Alumni Association will have their annual meeting and banquet in the school library on Friday night, April 1st. Committee in charge: Hazel Garrish, Iona Teeter, Maude Ellen Garrish, Ellen Robinson. President: Maxine Mason; vice-president, Geraldine Tolson; secretary, Marion Austin; treasurer, Ward Garrish.

MIDDLETOWN PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Jestus Jarvis, Mrs. Burnell Gibbs and Joyce, spent Friday at Swan Quarter.

Mrs. Palmer Swindell visited relatives in Pintown last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Carawan of Norfolk, and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Selby visited Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McKinney.

George Cox, Jr. of Portsmouth, Va. visited Miss Julia Cox.

Edd Rose visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spencer Saturday.

STUNT SHOW TO DELIGHT PATRONS AT OCRACOKE

Ocracoke, March 28.—The Ocracoke School P.T.A. is putting on a stunt show occasion on Friday night, April 1st. About every two years this organization gets busy and gives some sort of an entertainment and this year's production promises to be as good, if not better, than the Minstrel Show of four years ago, and the District School of two years ago.

Stunt one, entitled "A Trip to Remember", presents vividly happenings on the mailboat between Atlantic and Ocracoke. Eph Esham is captain; Elsie and Irvin Garrish are the bride and groom; Marvin Howard is the old Ocracoker coming back home after an absence of forty years; Wahab Howard is a book salesman; Elizabeth O'N. Howard, and her cat, are making their first trip to Ocracoke; Thurston Gaskill, sports fisherman de luxe fishes off the stern of the mailboat, while his non-fishing wife, Nora, looks on; Mrs. Elsie Tolson, pessimist, almost gets seasick; Selma Spencer, deaf, but hears plenty; Virginia Esham, Ocracoker returning from Morehead City answers all the questions and then some; Wilma Williams and her four children, coming home from a shopping trip to Beaufort—getting on the boat at Atlantic, getting stuck on a shoal, stopping at Portsmouth, and finally docking at Ocracoke, when Bessie Howard appears to welcome them to Ocracoke.

Stunt Two presents Miss Blanche Howard and Danny Garrish, in costume of the Gay Nineties, singing old-time favorites on the park bench "neath the light of the silvery moon."

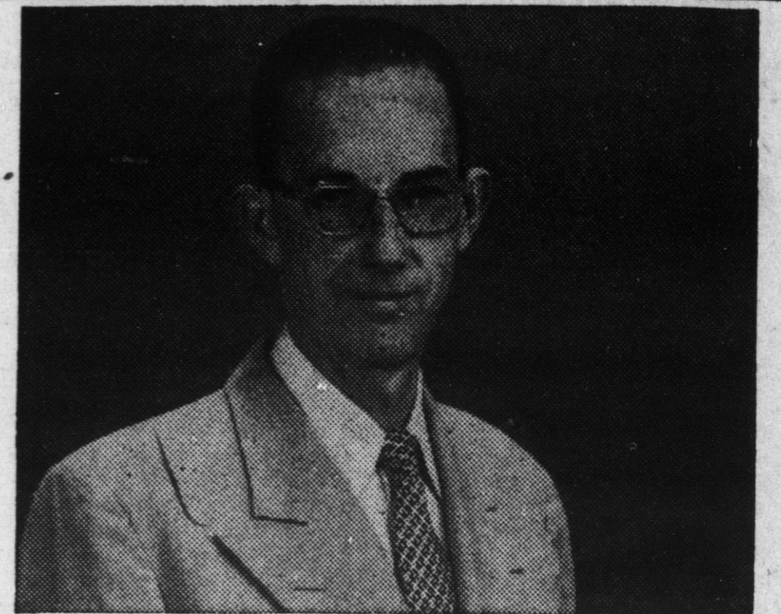

Stunt Three gives several of the ladies the opportunity to impersonate their husbands or other members of the Ocracoke Civic Club at one of its meetings and dinners. Naomi O'Neal, Alice Rondthaler, Gladys Williams, Iva Garrish, Irene O'Neal, Lavelia Howard, Flora Spencer, Rebecca Spencer, Selma Spencer, Ellen Robinson, not only don the clothes of their husbands, but portray vividly their part in the Civic Club meeting.

Stunt Four is a minstrel show entitled "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight", featuring Principal Rondthaler as interlocutor; Kelly O'Neal as Hambone; Doris Garrish as Beulah; Fannie Willis as Little Babe; Iona Teeter as Sapphire; Elmo Fulcher as Calhoun; Ansley O'Neal as Fiddlin' Sam; Jesse Garrish as Sassafras; Lucille Garrish as Mamma Bailey; Neva O'Neal as Madam Queen; Wallace Spencer as Kingfish Monfort Garrish as Si; Ben Spencer as Andrew Brown; and Jack Willis as Amos. Special solo numbers, jokes, and group singing will make this a popular feature of the evening's entertainment.

First Act of Congress was a bill regulating the time and manner of administering the oaths of office required by the Constitution.

JOHNNY MILLER, popular radio star of WTOB says, "My wife has always used light Karo for cooking... and on the table—it's dark Karo for me, the best-tasting eating syrup of 'em all"

"Yes, indeed... biscuits go like hot cakes when you pour on plenty of delicious dark Karo... there's nothing like it for good eating. Satisfyin' flavor. So rich it stands right up on top of biscuits (keeps 'em light and fluffy). Keep Karo on your table morning, noon and night... it tops anything!"
