

FIRE AT SUN SEEKERS GETS PROMPT SERVICE

The first job for the new fire department at Kill Devil Hills came Sunday night when a fire at the Sun Seekers restaurant occurred. The flames began in a storage room, and the fire had gained considerable headway before the department could get to the scene, although they responded promptly when called. Estimates on damage ranged from $1,000 to $1500.

Firemen at School
Two Kill Devil Hills men are away this week at a firefighting training session being held in Charlotte. They are Bill Twiford and E. W. Culppepper, who are part of the volunteer department. At the school they are receiving the latest in methods and operation of apparatus. Expenses of this training are paid by the town, except for travel.

local conditions during the operation of that project helped him to qualify for the work that he did in establishing the Cape Hatteras National Seashore Recreational Area. His acquaintances with local people and his knowledge of property boundaries facilitated and expedited the land acquisition program for the recreational area.

Mr. Stratton is now serving as Assistant Regional Chief of Operation in the Region One Office of the National Park Service in Richmond, Virginia. He is a native of Missouri, but has lived in the east since 1930. He married Alma Owens of Manteo and they have two sons.

K. D. HILLS' WOMAN MAYOR STATES VIEWS

Mrs. Emily Mustian, Who Was Recently Elected, Invites All To Join in Building the Town

The following statement by Mrs. Emily F. Mustian, who was recently elected mayor of Kill Devil Hills, is published in the public interest:

"To me has been assigned the extreme pleasure and duty of serving the people of Kill Devil Hills in the capacity of Mayor. I am very grateful but humble for this honor. I assure you that I shall endeavor to perform my duties as efficiently as possible and with a keen sense of right and justice for all. I humbly beg for the support and cooperation of all those who supported me and of all those who opposed me.

"I would like to briefly outline some of the principles for which I stand; and as long as there is a town of Kill Devil Hills and as long as I am Mayor of the town, I shall exert every effort to discharge the duties of my office to the very best of my abilities and with these principles in mind.

"Kill Devil Hills is a small town, and it is my personal belief that it should be run as a small town, that we should have a minimum of government operations, that it should be run as economically as possible but that we should endeavor to provide our citizens with the needed services, which are within our financial means, and which the county, state or Federal government are unable to provide.

"Whenever matters of importance are scheduled to be heard in our town meetings, it is my intention, not only to comply with the legal regulations regarding notifications of such actions, but I consider it my personal and moral obligation to see that the residents of the town are made fully aware of such contemplated actions, even to the extent of personal notification by letter, telephone; personal calls when such matters may affect them as a property owner or as a citizen of the town.

"Whether or not we are required to do so by law, I feel that the town officials should make available to all tax-payers, as full detail as possible, of the town's financial matters, including budget breakdowns.

"Furthermore, it is my desire that all meetings of the town be opened to the public and that the public be urged to attend and to freely pass on all suggestions or grievances, that our government may be a government for the people and by the people."

HATTERAS METHODIST CHURCH 78 YEARS OLD

On Saturday evening, May 21, the Hatteras Methodist Church celebrated its 78th year, with a birthday party in the community room.

Roy Gray welcomed the guests in the absence of the minister, Rev. Dan Meadows, and also led the devotional. After the program the guests were invited to the Club Room, where the table was decorated with birthday cakes with lighted candles, and a center piece of white lilies.

The committee had prepared for 200 guests. It was an enjoyable and memorable occasion.

The pastor, Rev. Dan Meadows, was at East Lake conducting a revival and Mr. Lefever filled the pulpit Sunday night. Mrs. Donald Clover of Minneapolis, Minn., sang a solo, "Fairrest Lovr Jesus."

BEACH RESTAURANTEER ENJOYS CAPE FEAR CRUISE

When the N. C. Ass'n. of Quality Restaurants met for the annual directors' meeting, Nags Head was represented by P. J. M. Bayne, operator of Jockey Ridge Restaurant. The meeting, held Wednesday, was unique in that it was held aboard a boat, and the party enjoyed a cruise down the Cape Fear River, beginning at Fayetteville. Dinner was served on board, and about thirty-five were on hand for the occasion.

in a total of over 200 large channel bass, none under thirty pounds and weighing up to fifty. Last fall, too, was a very good season. The biggest channel bass caught in his boat weighed 63 3/4 pounds, pulled in by Dr. Dave Tayloe. Capt Gaskill says, however, that larger ones than this have been caught at Ocracoke within the past two years.

Capt. Gaskill has lived through the days of the smaller type fishing skiff, with a one-cylinder motor, to the present diesel motors. He is an enthusiast for sailing, and whenever opportunity affords, gets in a little of this just for fun in his small sailboat. He recalls the good old days at Pamlico Inn, favorite among sports fishermen. He remembers when there were three round-trips a week between Ocracoke and Washington, N. C. and one or two to Swan Quarter, with passengers disembarking at the Pamlico Inn dock in Pamlico Sound. Before 1936 the daily mailboat made the trip from Beaufort, not Atlantic. No one ever dreamed then of the possibility of reaching the Island by car. Capt. Gaskill believes that when the road has been built down the Island from Hatteras Inlet, not only will a lot more tourists come in, but there will be much more demand for boats and guides and that local guides will fit out their boats for Gulf Stream fishing. He says that in the old days business men had more time off, but that today they want to get somewhere in a hurry and spend all their time fishing, not traveling to an out-of-the-way place by slow boat. So as a guide and pilot he is looking forward to the proposed highway. Capt. Gaskill not only learned the art of guiding at old Pamlico Inn, but he also learned the art of cooking. The Inn was famous for its seafood dinners, prepared under the watchful eye of Mrs. Bill Gaskill. And she taught her son, Thurston, to prepare seafood Ocracoke style. Why spoil a good oyster stew by giving it a milky taste? There's no milk in the Ocracoke recipe: 1 quart of oysters, opened in natural juice, put in some fried cubes of salt pork, one teaspoon of corn cracklings, (meal), 1 cup of water, salt and pepper to taste; let simmer until oyster edges curl; serve piping hot. And the Captain cooks the channel bass he catches, Ocracoke style: boil the drum until tender, boil potatoes (in their jackets, separately); when ready to serve sprinkle fish with fried out fat-back cubes, put potatoes, hard boiled eggs and sliced raw onions around the fish platter; and be sure to serve some good old home-made corn bread.

WHAT RUNNING WATER CAN DO ON YOUR FARM

DAIRY BARN AND FEED LOT
Milk contains 87% water. Milk production increases 10 to 20% and 6 to 12% more butter-fat is produced, where dairy cattle are supplied with running water.

MILK HOUSE
Running water for washing and sterilizing utensils is a "must" for profitable dairy production at low cost. Here again, an automatic water system is a money-maker for you!

HOG HOUSE AND FEED LOT
Farmers increase hog profits by giving pigs free access to running water . . . brings pigs to maturity faster . . . reduces feed costs . . . saves time watering . . . spraying . . . washing.

POULTRY HOUSE AND YARD
Egg production increases 8 to 10% where flocks have running water in laying houses and yards. Greater yield plus time and effort saved bring bigger profits.

FIRE PROTECTION
BIG fires start from little flames! Running water, instantly available in and near farm buildings, will safeguard your property from the menace of ruinous farm fires!

GARDEN IRRIGATION
Running water makes it practical and economical to employ supplementary irrigation for the protection of farm garden crops against the ever-present threat of drought.

FARM HOME
The many, many advantages of running water are all obvious.
