

GLIMPSES OF THE PAST

By CAROLYN LLOYD

Vacations are wonderful except for one thing—they end. It's not that I mind going back to work so much—it's just that I hate getting up and getting there if you know what I mean.

This suggestion for the year I will pass on to my feminine readers simply because it is among the more ridiculous ones to come out in print recently. It was made by a woman writer who evidently lives in a hotel or is well supplied with household help.

OCRACOKE PERSONALS

Ocracoke, January 2.—Ocracoke Burial Association elected officers for the 1956 term at a meeting held Monday night at the school library.

Officers elected for 1956 are: president, Willie B. Hunnings; vice president, Kermit Robinson; secretary and treasurer, Murray Spencer; official board, Elmo Fulcher, Charlie Garrish, and Jim Williams.

The Ocracoke Civic Club will meet on Monday night, January 9th, at the school library.

Ocracokers are glad to welcome back Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Howard. Capt. Howard has been in charge of a hopper-dredge at Lake Maracaibo, Venezuela, since June, and Mrs. Howard has meanwhile visited her daughter in Winston-Salem and son in Norfolk.
