Bountiful '57 Food Supplies Banish Bare Cupboard Fear

By Nancy Carter

Beef, potatoes and cabbage are three of the foods topping the plentiful food list in 1957. To combine these three into a taste tempting dinner is wise and thrifty byemanship.

Prospects for our nation's food supply look very good. The outlook for meat is continued large with supplies almost meeting the record volume of 1956.

With good weather, crops of most fruit items will increase. The acreage planted in vegetables for fresh markets in 1957 is expected to exceed all previous records.

Here's my suggestion to start the new year in a thrifty manner. If you'd like more money saving recipes write to me: Nancy Carter, P. O. Box 4358, Atlanta, Ga.
