MOST EASTERN CAROLINA FARMS ARE FIRE HAZARD

Most other Eastern North Caro lina farms, constitute a fire hazard, according to R. S. Douglass, forestry specialist for N. C. Exten sion Services, who advises that the cost of preparing and maintaining firelanes with a farm tractor is low compared to what a bad fire can cost a farmer. Douglass says that if you have a rough area, you may need to get the N. C. Forest Service or a heavy equipment operator to prepare Old lanes that were made with a heavy fireplow can be maintained as combination roads and firelanes if they are worked with a disk to leave them level. VALUABLE PROPERTY
