We entertain the hope and the confidence that the kind of cooperation we enjoin herein will be a part of this program. And with cooperation, there will be the desire to carefully review all the viewpoints of the various agencies, adapting that which is most practical and bearing promise of greatest gains.

The success of this undertaking is, of course, primarily dependent upon the extent of the time and effort our people are willing to put into it. We are also hopeful and confident that at this time, and faced with the dilemma as it is, and having the opportunity and coastland.
