Terry Sanford FRONT LINE FIGHTER for roads!

"Traffic on North Carolina highways has more than doubled in the last 15 years. It will continue to increase at a rapid rate. Our secondary road building and maintenance program has fallen far behind. Prompt, aggressive action and leadership are needed! North Carolina has more small towns and communities than perhaps any other state; new access roads must be planned and built. Good hard-surfaced roads are needed . . . to get our children safely to and from school . . . and workers to their jobs in nearby industries . . . to make markets more accessible for our large farm population.

"We should continue the present State-wide approach for primary and interstate roads, but the secondary road program must be returned to the people. Our Highway Commission should be enlarged to 10-14 members who represent every area of the state, understand the local road problem, and have authority to do something about it. As taxpayers footing the bill, our people are entitled to a stronger voice in local road programs.

"Yes, this is an ambitious program. It has to be. It will require much time just to catch up. But I say, 'LET'S GET STARTED NOW!'"
