OCRACOKE NEWS
OCRACOKE, July 20. — Saturday, July 23, has been set as the last day to register for voting in the proposed Mosquito District election here. The election day itself has been fixed by the Hyde County Commissioners for Saturday, August 6, with special registration required, registration books to close July 23. Since the District would bring a local tax of 25¢ on the hundred dollars, it is a live issue in this community. Opinions range all the way from those who want no tax of any kind for any purpose, to those who propose a tax as the only fair way to spread out the costs of mosquito control. Opinions also range all the way from those who flatly believe that no control can be accomplished, to those who believe that with money and wisdom over a period of years much can be done. As COASTLAND TIMES goes to press, only two days are left to register for this election, namely Friday and Saturday of this week. Mrs. Neva O'Neal has posted notice that voters may register at her house on Friday, July 22, 3-6 p.m., or on Saturday, July 23, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. The attempt is being made to alert local citizens to the fact that whether they oppose or favor the creation of Ocracoke Mosquito Control District, they must register at once in order to vote in the election.

Sportsfishermen continue to bring in good catches of cobia daily, but on July 18th, Andy Green and family of Richmond, varied the catch with a 74 lb. Tarpon as well as a 20 lb. cobia. It was caught two miles out from Ocracoke in Pamlico Sound with finfish bait after a spectacular fight of an hour and forty minutes before the big fish was brought to gaff. Mr. and Mrs. Green and daughter, Helen and son Jeff, were fishing with Capt. Thurston Gaskill in the "South Wind." They stayed at Wahab Village Hotel. It was their first visit to Ocracoke, but as Mr. Green says: "Not our last... Ocracoke was recommended to us by Ed Benjamin of Towson, Maryland... and we'll be coming back."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mosher and family of Indian Head, Md., and his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Mosher, of Ithaca, N. Y., enjoyed a week at the Togo Wynn cottage. The Moshers owned a summer home here from about 1925 to 1940, when they were residents of Chapel Hill. It was Mrs. Mosher's first return to the Island since 1940. "I find many material changes of course, but fundamentally it's the same fascinating and friendly Ocracoke that I knew."

Another "old-timer" was Mrs. Annie Potter of Norfolk, who had not been here for thirty or more years. Mrs. Potter was a native of Ocracoke, a member of the Springer family, who at one time owned a large tract at the south end of the Village which continues to be known as "Springer's Point," which was the legendary hide-out of the Pirate Blackbeard.

It was pleasing to the eye to see Capt. Marvin W. Howard at home for a day or two. Since he has been "in command" of the Ocracoke - Atlantic ferry "Sea Level", his home visits have been confined to about two hours daily when the ferry is docked at Ocracoke. Evidently he took a few days "furlough" to be here with Mrs. Howard during the visit of their son, Olin Howard, and his family, from Roanoke Rapids. Meanwhile Capt. Clarence Scarborough kept the "Sea Level" on its devious course through Core and Pamlico Sounds. The ferry is carrying maximum capacity daily and during "rush periods" of travel sometimes cars are left behind, indicating that a second ferry would be advantageous soon for summer traffic.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Parker of Meriden, Conn., are at their summer home here, indeed they are increasing the capacity of the home with a large addition. Evidently children and grandchildren are expected for visits.

Mrs. Eleanor Burrus has spent the past week with sisters in Hatteras, but plans to come home shortly. Meanwhile her daughter, Mrs. Victor Grigas of Portsmouth, Va., came here with friends on Tuesday and visited her sisters, Mrs. Monford Garrish and Mrs. Herman Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dederick of the Recreational Planning Board of the National Park Service, of Washington, D. C., visited Ocracoke recently. Supt. Gibbs was also down from Manteo last Thursday. The National Park is providing turn-out places along the Ocracoke highway so that cars can park off the road and visitors can walk over to the ocean beach. There are three of these under construction, one just north of the Village near the first dunes, another about six miles down the Island near the Pony Range (this one will give visitors an opportunity to walk over to the ocean beach and see the remains of the shipwreck "George Wells", and a third at the northern end of the paved highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Jones, Sr., of Norfolk and family are here at Berkeley Manor, with their son, Selby and little daughter, Ursula.
