DISCUSSION OF REBUILDING L.C. THEATRE MON.

Annual Meeting to be in Ra leigh Monday, November 28

Roanoke Island Historical Association board of directors met in Manteo Monday for a preliminary discussion on the prospects of rebuilding The Lost Colony's Waterside Theatre which was almost destroyed by Hurricane Donna.

It was brought out at the meeting, presided over by Mrs. O. Max Gardner of Shelby, president of the Historical Association, that damage to the properties where The Lost Colony had completed a successful 20th season September 4, was perhaps more than originally estimated.

Early estimates of replacing the dressing rooms, work shops, fire department, properties shop and costume department had been about $30,000. It is now believed that it may take more than $40,-000 to rebuild the theatre and open the show next year on July 1 as planned, according to General Manager J. Sib Dorton.

Dorton and his assistant in charge of theatre maintenance and construction Albert Q. Bell gave reports of the extent of damage. Where the money will come from to do the necessary rebuilding is still undetermined.

On behalf of the committee in charge Mrs. Fred Morrison of Washington, D. C., presented a revision of the association's by-laws which were adopted by those pres-

It was announced by Mrs. Gardner that the annual meeting of Roanoke Island Historical Association would be held in Raleigh on Monday, November 28, during the State's annual Culture Week.

The book is built on the legend of the famous ride made by Betsy Dowdy, who crossed deep inlets and went through fearful swamps on her banker pony to save her beloved North Carolina from British attack in 1775. Lord Dunmore had attacked Great Bridge, Virginia, and it was to notify General William Skinner in time to relieve the American garrison that Betsy made her famous ride.

Mrs. Wechter says that there are "several accounts of Betsy Dowdy's ride. Each one is different from the others; but the location, the time, and the principal events remain the same." She says that it is her purpose "to present the legendary Betsy as I believe she really was, for I am sure that her spirit will live forever in our Funds in Hyde and hearts side by side with the spirits of Virginia Dare and Theodosia Burr."
