TYRRELL CO. EASTER SERVICE THEMES ARE SPECTACULAR

COLUMBIA — The Free Will Baptists at the Sound Side church will feature both of their Easter Services with a speaker who was resurrected from crime to become an Evangelist, as he terms it "Ex-convict saved by God's grace".

Arnold J. Vander former convict and dope addict will tell of his conversion to Christ in Chicago's famed Pacific Garden Mission, where such men as Mel Trotter and Billy Sunday, both widely known evangelists of earlier years, began new lives, according to the release from the mission.

An escapee, when he turned his back on crime, he surrendered to the FBI for an old felony charge. In Southern Michigan Prison, where he was sent, he decided to enter the ministry. There he supervised the Prison Bible School, which grew from a mere handful to more than 700 men studying the Bible behind Prison walls. After two years of his long sentence, he was paroled, and immediately began his evangelistic career.

Founded in 1877, the Pacific Garden Mission, besides ministering to derelicts, maintains up-to-date servicemen's center and sponsors a weekly radio broadcast "Unsnakled". According to Supt. Harry Sautnier, who adds that 8 thousand there have professed to receive spiritual help, often resulting in changed lives.

"Come and Worship with us", releases the Pastor, The Rev. Charlie Overton.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — The Senate has passed a bill to expedite and accelerate the use of educational television in our nation's schools and colleges. I voted for the bill which will authorize a grant of up to $1 million for North Carolina to establish or improve educational broadcasting facilities. Television has immense possibilities in the field of education. Already North Carolinians have seen an effective use of television through WUNC-TV Station in Chapel Hill. The measure now goes to the House for consideration.

ANTI-CRIME DRIVE — A concerted drive against crime in America has been called for by Attorney General Kennedy and has been sanctioned in speeches in the Senate. The Attorney General has appointed an Assistant to head the Anti-Crime Division of the Justice Department. Hearings before the Senate Rackets Committee have shown the need for federal direction of this drive. Local officers find often-times that they are at a loss to cope with a nationally organized crime syndicate or even a criminal who operates in several states. I favor new hearings in this field by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

TEXTILES — Senators from the major textile producing states have suggested a flexible quota as one means of assistance to the textile industry. The President is aware of the textile problem and has appointed a cabinet level committee, including Secretary of Commerce Hodges, to study the situation. I believe and have so stated in the Senate that a system of flexible quotas by country and by category will deal with the present situation in such a way as to give our friends in foreign countries such reasonable proportion of our domestic market as they need to have, and at the same time preserve the investments of our local manufacturers in the domestic market and the jobs of our textile workers. 230,000 North Carolina families earn their livelihood in textile plants. Since 1947 the United States has seen 838 textile mills liquidated with a loss of over 400,000 American jobs. This unfortunate situation is due to a maladministration of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act. When Cordell Hull recommended that the United States enter into a reciprocal trade agreement with other nations, he said it was not contemplated by this concept that the United States would encourage the importation into the United States of articles which were produced in the United States in surplus quantities. He said to have true reciprocity the United States should make agreements with other nations whereby the United States would export to those other nations the goods which we produced in surplus quantity, and whereby the United States would import from those other nations the goods which the United States either did not manufacture or could not manufacture effectively. We need to return to that original concept.

enport, Mrs. Quentin Bell, Mrs. Bily Cox, Mrs. Lonnie Liverman, Mrs. Tom Yerby, Mrs. J. A. Pinner, Mrs. Louise Hales, Mrs. Dennis Pledger Jr., Mrs. Cecil Lilley, Mrs. H. L. Davis, Mrs. Lloyd Pledger, Mrs. J. H. Withers, Mrs. Gene Simmons, Mrs. Abner Harrell, Mrs. H. Worth Pearce, Mrs. H. T. Davenport, Mrs. Ann E. Davenport and Mrs. Francis Cordrey.

R. Swain, Mrs. Paul Edwards, Mrs. Edmond Brickhouse and Mrs. Joseph Maitland, Mrs. Richard Brickhouse and Mrs. Chester Cooper.
