CAROLINA TELEPHONE GIVES LARGER ENGELHARD SERVICE

Carolina Telephone Company construction forces have completed Mr. Parker, who is an ardent fish-bringing in plenty of nice blue, ed additional facilities to Nebraska erman, has had to dispense with Whiting, trout and occasionally and vicinity South of Engelhard, North Carolina. Upon completion of this project some 20 applications received new service and several others received primary grades of telephone service.

This disclosed by K. C. Wilkinson, local manager at Belhaven, who stated the accomplishment of this project involved placing ap-proximately 12.4 miles of buried cable at an estimated expenditure of $29,569.

This project in Engelhard is one of many that have been constructed by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company to provide up to date service in its operating territory.

COOLISH MAY WEATHER CUT TRAVEL ON COAST

Cool weather in May cut into Cape Hatteras National Seashore travel, as compared to the same month last year, but two other National Park Services installations in Dare showed an increase during the month.

The 42,539 visitors counted at the National Seashore was 20.5 percent less than May 1960.

National Park Service officials attribute the decrease the temperature from day to day which averaged 5.6 degrees below normal during the month. Other travel officials believe that the 45 minute ferry trip across Oregon Inlet, as compared to about 20 minutes last vear, may have also reduced visitation to the National Seashore.

Both Fort Raleigh National FOR HURRICANE WARNINGS Historic Site and its museum, and the Wright Brothers National Memorial, which also has a museum will spend ten weeks working with nation meeting held Wednesday in reported increases this year in May as compared to 1960.

With 4, 532 visitors counted, the calendar year total to date for Fort Raleigh increased to 14,855—an increase of 11 percent. In May last year 16,510 persons
